ANNEXATION

Edmonton votes to proceed

The City of Edmonton Council passed a motion to proceed with an application to the Local Authorities Board for a massive boundary extension, which would include St. Albert and Sherwood Park, at their meeting yesterday afternoon, with a substantial majority in favour. Nine aldermen voted for the proposal, three were against (Aldermen Leger, Newman and Wickman) and one abstained (Alderman Dub).

The plan for acquiring land in all four directions would give the city 2,000 square kilometres, which is over six times Edmonton's present size. Those aldermen supporting the annexation stressed the need for it in the interests of effective long range planning, 40 or more years ahead. And they pointed out that it would be of scant value to establish proper long-term planning on the one hand, and then not being able to implement the plans because they did not have governmental control. The objective of a central unitary government was equally important. It also became clear that neither the aldermen nor consultants had faith in the ability of the ERPC to serve as an effective planning instrument.

A fairly large gallery was on hand for the meeting, but several aldermen expressed their disappointment that no Edmonton MLA's were on hand. Sherwood Park's newly elected representative, Mr. Henry Woo, was present for a good portion of the meeting, and St. Albert Council was represented by Liesbeth Bakker.

In preparation for the annexation application, the most comprehensive study of future directions for the city ever undertaken was carried out by an appointed committee backed up by top flight consultants and advisors. Legal consultant Ammon Ackroyd and project manager Dave Podmore set the scene for yesterday's meeting with an overview of the proposal using slides and maps, and during the meeting economic consultant H. Harries was called upon to answer some questions from Alderman Leger.

AVOID A METROPOLITAN TRAGEDY - ACKROYD

Mr. Ackroyd emphasized the essentially urban character of the areas adjoining the city as a reason for implementing the annexation and unitary government proposal, quoting from the McNally Commission Report "that it would constitute nothing short of a metropolitan tragedy to permit a second city to grow up on Edmonton's boundary" ... thus creating in Edmonton all the problems presently being faced by major metropolitan areas in the world. He also felt LAB was styled for smaller annexations, of smaller populations, and it remains to be seen if the Board can handle this one.

He further pointed out that at present only those directly affected can appear before the LAB. "We look to see if a wider hearing of the public will be possible (for Edmonton's application)."

Mr. Podmore pointed out the dilemma of fragmentation of jurisdictions in the met area, with 36 agencies and bodies for provision of services, which will cause increasing difficulties in years to come. Competition for industry will deteriorate Edmonton's position, as will piece meal annexations such as have been experienced, said the project manager. He felt it is not possible to alter the structure of ERPC so as to make it effective.

Models used to analyze other met areas cannot be applied to the unique position of the Edmonton met area, said Mr. Podmore. Other centres looked at relatively large numbers of population in neighbouring blocks, whereas in Edmonton met area 80 percent of the population is concentrated in the city. (In the Vancouver situation the figure was 20 percent, and in Toronto, 40 percent). We did not plan to increase growth, he said, but rather to handle the growth which must come in all areas with urban development potential and urban characteristics. We considered a number of boundary options of a smaller scale, but it was clear they were not viable. However we felt there could be effective representation from communities enclosed by the large annexation, which would be encouraged to present their views and the needs of small municipalities also must be considered.

CITY MUST ACT

Mr. Podmore said the city must now make a policy commitment for unification. Taxes in St. Albert would Please Turn to Page A 6

City ratifies sewer agreement

After ascertaining that the question of rates was not involved, city council moved Monday night to sign the long-awaited sewer services agreement with the MD of Sturgeon. Council was asked to ratify the agreement although the MD has not yet approved it.

The agreement allows for service to the penitentiary and allows users in the MD to connect to the system. St. Albert is selling its sewer system as a utility, commented City Manager Bob Byron.

Council members did not rush to sign the agreement, however, as they thought they should wait to see if the MD officials proposed any changes. Mr. Breadner stated that he had some concerns regarding rates and equity that he wanted answered before he voted approval. He said that although he supported the sale of the sewer as a utility, he wanted to look into it further.

However, Mrs. Bakker responded to her colleagues' reservations saying that it was important for St. Albert to indicate its willingness to sign. She said the city had been called "unco-operative" in the past on this issue. Details could be looked at later, she said.

In response to this, Ald. Breadner remarked that "just because some veiled threats have been made doesn't mean we have to rush into anything." Regarding the rates he said the MD might wish to counter-offer, and if this were the case, the negotiation should not be done in public.

Ald. Smith said the city had indicated its willingness to sign, but that technical information was needed. She then referred the matter to technical staff. However the referral was defeated.

The matter was resolved when Ald. Bakker pointed out that it was not necessary to approve the rates to ratify the agreement, as the rates were not included in the agreement. With this established, the motion to approve carried.

Facilities get nod

The city of St. Albert looked at four recreation proposals on Monday night, and action will be taken in the future on three out of the four projects. As a result of council's deliberations, work will begin soon on a Midget ball diamond in the Woodlands area, with an area for a second diamond to be levelled at the same location. Council also moved to upgrade the fastball facility at Meadowview Park. It is estimated the upgrading will cost about $60,000.

The approval of one facility came as a surprise to many, as the administration committee had recommended it not be accepted. The new Please Turn to Page A 8

CONGRATULATIONS
NDP Candidate Bob Borreson congratulates P.C. winner Myrna Fyfe Wednesday after the results of the Provincial election were announced.

Accident victim in coma

A Vega, Alberta woman is in critical condition in hospital in a coma after being hit by a car on March 13.

Rosanne Marie White, 21, was walking on Hwy. 2 about one mile north of St. Albert when she stepped in front of a car driven by Bob Borreson, an NDP candidate in the St. Albert Constituency in last week's Provincial election.

RCMP said that Borreson could not avoid hitting the woman. The accident occurred about 10 p.m. last Tuesday night.

Catholic Board protests zoning

Forest Lawn residents John Arnot and Tom Sentes won support of the Catholic School Board Monday in their fight against commercial development of a parcel of land located at Sir Winston Churchill and Fairview Blvd. known as the Shell property.

City council will hold a public hearing April 9 for the purpose of rezoning the parcel to 1 acre C2 (commercial) and four acres R1c (single family residential - detached and semi-detached). The entire parcel was originally zoned commercial then in 1977 the City (Bylaw 32/77) rezoned a portion of it to R1c. The validity of this action is currently under litigation and the city is making the present maneuver to 'correct' the matter.

John Arnot told trustees that allowing a commercial zoning to remain would be 'opening a can of worms that doesn't have to be opened.' He said that the area was an educational and recreational area that a commercial development would not be compatible with.

Tom Sentes explained to Board members that the group was not attempting to use the Board as a means to an end. He said they were not opposed to all forms of development but did not believe a convenience food store or service station were needed in the area. These two establishments would create increased traffic flows in an area already heavy with pedestrian traffic creating by students (2900 in area) and others using the sports fields nearby. The group also feared the food store would create a hang out for students that would lead to possible vandalism. There would also be litter problems and nutritional problems as students chose to eat junk foods from the store.

Mr. Sentes said he didn't like the 'compromise route' that was now being followed as planning criteria (allowing Shell one acre to develop commercially instead of five). 'If a commercial development shouldn't be there, then it shouldn't be there.' He said a development plan was not formally before council but one 'did exist.' He said it contained one of Shell's self-serve gas stations and a building the size needed to house a food outlet like the ones Shell has in Edmonton.

District Superintendent Bill Zielinski said he had indication that the staff at V.J. Maloney school across the street were not concerned over the development. They felt it would not have an adverse effect on their nutrition program at the school which was widely accepted by the students.

Trustee Ken Porter said that wasn't the case at St. Albert High when school administration had opposed Mission Ridge on similar grounds.

Trustee Don Lavoy said his involvement with summer sports in the area led him to believe the traffic made crossings risky now without adding traffic generating developments.

Mr. Sentes said he had statistical information gathered by Edmonton City Police and Alderman Bill Shields that indicated adverse effects were the result of locating schools and retail stores in close proximity. He said he was not suggesting what was good for the area, only that a food outlet was not. The groups aim was to restrict the type of development allowed on the parcel.

Trustee Lavoy said that in his opinion a food store would be a detriment. Students in Junior High have a tendency to congregate and they are susceptible to peer pressure which could lead to vandalism and shoplifting. 'All education does not take place in the school.' The development would be part of the school setting and 'we should strongly oppose.'

Trustee Jerry Manegre said that, although he appreciated some of the difficulties that may be in the future; in the absence of concerns from District Administration or V.J.M. School the Board had no firm data upon which to express an opinion.

Trustee Porter reminded Mr. Manegre of the St. Albert High case adding, 'I don't know if there is a study for every kind of problem you do encounter.'

Trustee Lavoy said he would 'hazard to suggest' that the staff made a negative response without having the information.

The result was the sending of a letter to the city stating that if a food outlet is established the Board has concerns regarding, nutrition, vandalism and increased traffic flows.

An interesting item arose at coffee which may or may not manifest itself in the future. Some individuals felt that perhaps the school boards should be taking an active role in planning.

Lions to aid the deaf

The president of Lions International, Ralph Lynam, has undertaken to launch a six-point program to involve Lions throughout the world in work with the deaf and those with hearing and speech problems.

In 1925 Helen Keller challenged the Lions to become 'Knight of the Blind' and this work became a prime project of Lionism.

Now, said President Lynam, there is an urgent need for a similar project to help the deaf.

Lion Russ Forsythe, past district governor for this area, will be happy to hear from interested Lions, and is available to address meetings or to provide more information on the new project. His home telephone number is 489-8503.

MPC criticized

Little lots lambasted in last minute attack

ALD. BILL SHIELDS
...J'accuse...?

It was just like old times for a while at the city council meeting Monday night. The sense of déjà vu pervaded the atmosphere when the time-honoured topic of Carma's Woodlands development and smaller lots suddenly took centre stage once more. This time, council's attention was directed to two of the Woodlands project.

SHIELDS ACCUSES ...

The subject of Woodlands was an unscheduled and seemingly unexpected addition to the council's agenda, introduced during the question and answer period by Ald. Bill Shields. Mr. Shields was critical of the Municipal Planning Commission's handling of the approval for the Woodlands Phase Two project, saying the MPC had given approval for the development, despite the fact that it had not yet been before council and despite the fact that "thirty percent of the lots are sub-standard." Mr. Shields was referring to the fact that in the Phase One and the proposed Phase Two projects, the lot sizes of certain lots do not conform to the city standard as they have reduced frontage. The square footage is standard however.

"MPC has supported a land use in a subdivision that does not conform to the land-use bylaw," said Mr. Shields. "I would like the mayor, as chief executive officer, to look into three things -- why the MPC gave its approval to a subdivision with sub-standard lots; why council was by-passed and why developers coming into St. Albert have circumvented the planning system."

...AND BREADNER REACTS

Having said this, the alderman sat down, but not before Ald. Barry Breadner was on his feet, condemning Ald. Shields remarks as being inappropriate and saying that the innuendos in these remarks required a response, something that is not possible in the last few minutes of a meeting. Mr. Breadner said that the MPC approval had been a conditional approval only, dependent on several factors including zoning. Mr. Breadner said vehemently that no attempt has ever been made to "by-pass council" and that no developer had attempted "to circumvent the planning system."

Mr. Shields re-asserted his wish for action by the mayor, and the meeting adjourned.

Tire playground concept gives birth to new ideas

Community involvement appears to be alive and thriving in Lacombe Park if plans unveiled before the Catholic School Board Monday are an indication.

The Bertha Kennedy Parent Advisory Committee, responsible for the erection of a tire playground at the school last spring, is back at it again. This year the idea is to construct facilities for older children as well as finish up landscaping around the school. The plans include an outdoor basketball court, volleyball courts, tennis and handball practice courts, over 70 trees and shrubs, benches, wood planters (around the front of the school) and a railway tie perimeter for the tire playground. Material costs come to $7,710 with the labour to be supplied by volunteers.

The group foresees no problem with volunteers and have definitely proven this true in the past. So far they have about 2 grand in the kitty and some ideas for additional fund raising projects. They intend to apply to the city for a grant on the suggestion of Alderman Bill Shields who reminded them to hurry because budget talks are underway.

Talks with Community Services have cleared the location of any conflicts with the City's plans and the Catholic Board has approved the project in principle. The group will return to the Board to seek funds after it has finalized a budget and has a specific board grant to apply for.

We'll hear more from them in the future. We may, should-history repeat itself, also hear from other groups who may now want to get in on a similar act.

The RCMP St. Albert Detachment has informed the Gazette that they have been writing about 50 tickets a day in school zones, and they wish the public to know what the zone times are. All driver should be aware of the times, as it could save you at least 30 dollars. The School zone times are from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A RIDICULOUS AWARD

The women represented by the Wages for Housework Committee in selecting Margaret Trudeau as "Housewife of the Year," and citing her for her "courage," have completely discredited themselves.

Naming an immature, jet-setting, publicity-seeking young woman, who may not have spent even one day of the year at "housewife" pursuits, was no doubt considered a terrific way to focus attention on the Committee's goal to getting the working population to pay women for work done in the home.

Like Maggie, the Committee seeks publicity.

But to call Margaret Trudeau courageous for abandoning her husband - for abandoning her three children - to adopt a style of living which only a rich man's daughter and a rich man's wife could be in a position to do - that is patently ridiculous.

It takes both courage and fortitude to be a good mother - and sacrifice - and a large amount of time devoted to being with children. Something touted by women's libbers as "quality time," with its undertones of smugness, means little to a child whose deepest needs are cared for only by a large quantity of time.

It takes courage also to honour a commitment given to man when a woman consents to marriage - and it takes integrity. That road is never easy, but the rewards for both partners are great when the commitment is honoured by both and love, companionship and a close understanding of each other's needs bless their later years with joy and contentment, with caring children and grandchildren to respect them.

Given Margaret's penchant for publicity, one questions her motives for marrying a Prime Minister.

It may take a lot of hard work - and in this case, a lot of help also - to write a book geared to the public's thirst for that which titillates - and it will surely earn big money - but it does NOT take courage.

The women represented by this committee should be ashamed of themselves for this award - particularly in the International Year of the Child.

It might better have been given to Pierre Trudeau who has assumed the ultimate responsibilities of both running the household and parenthood with dignity and personal sacrifice, and indeed with courage.

Don't be shy - phone your trustee

Trustees of the Protestant School District have the distinct impression that those who elected them are somewhat hesitant to call and discuss matters of concern. So Wednesday evening, they voted to take steps to let the public know just how easy it is to ring up a Trustee and 'chew' him or her out, or pass on a complaint.

Beginning with this week's issue of the Gazette, the District will publish an advertisement listing trustees' phone numbers, the District Office phone number and convenient times to discuss matters with the Trustees - face to face.

The Board's agenda does list an item, 'Delegations,' but Trustees felt the public looked upon this as more formal than necessary. For example, a group of parents would appear at a meeting and ask to speak during the time allotted for delegations when they had a beef about busing, or overcrowded classes but not, for something like asking for information on a new program, etc.

It was generally agreed that coffee break would be a good time to have folks drop by and discuss any concerns in an informal setting. Or, if dropping by the District Office isn't convenient, the Trustees want to be sure the public feels free to call them at home on any matters of concern - or even to pass on a compliment.

Protection sought for Handicapped workers

Fire department officials are being aided by handicapped individuals and associations working on their behalf in efforts to provide adequate fire protection for handicapped workers.

The numbers of handicapped persons being hired by American business firms is tremendously encouraging, but officials in the Los Angeles department point to some tragedies which have already occurred, in pressing for improved escape routes for handicapped workers.

Quadruplegic Douglas Martin, director of the Westside Community for Independent Living in Los Angeles, notes that disabled workers are in places they have never been before. "This reflects our success in gaining access," he said, "and now solutions must be found so our progress is not hindered."

At present four remedies are being studied for the Los Angeles area: putting fire resistant rooms in factories and office buildings for use by the handicapped in an emergency; developing smoke detectors that can warn the deaf; construction requirements for more than one entrance for wheelchair workers; developing equipment to allow wheelchair workers to use stairs in case of fires prohibiting elevator use.

It is to be hoped that studies done in Los Angeles will not be duplicated in other areas. Rather all research in this, and other important areas for protecting handicapped workers, should be dovetailed for greatest benefit and financial savings to communities across North America.

Part of the Alberta Summer Games program this year will include a giant Cultural festival. Under the direction of Ken Graham, who sits on the St. Albert Games Board as Culture Director, the Culture committee has undertaken the task of bringing all kinds of events to St. Albert leading up to the Games, to be held in St. Albert August 2-6.

The kick-off to all this is the coming of the Ontario Science Circus, a travelling form of the Ontario Science Center.

The Circus will be in St. Albert from May 25 to June 3, ten days of fascinating adventures into the world of science. The show will be located in the Akinsdale arena, and hours will run from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday; Noon to 9 p.m. on Saturday and Noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

But first, a little background on the Ontario Science Center. It opened in September of 1969, originally a Centennial Project by the Ontario Government. The two year difference is attributed to red tape (what else is new). Maybe an excerpt from a pamphlet on the Center will help grasp the idea of the place. "On September 19, 1969, radio waves from a distant star opened the Ontario Science Center. As the rotation of the earth aligned the star with a radio telescope, a tiny pulse of energy switched on a laser beam which ignited a charge of Magnesium powder. With a flash of light and a puff of smoke, the ribbon fell and Premier John Robarts declared the center open.

The Center contains many exhibits, plus a few intriguing demonstrations. The travelling Circus takes some of the popular attractions on the road around Ontario. This year being "International Year of the Child," the National Museum Council gave a grant to the Center to take its Circus around Canada. The Circus will take its show to one city in every province.

Ken Graham and his crew pulled somewhat of a coup, luring the Circus to St. Albert in connection with the Summer Games.

The Science Circus itself was conceived as an extension to the Center in 1973. By inviting participation, the Circus exhibits encouraged visitors to have fun while they are rediscovering science. Whether its pedalling a bicycle to generate electricity or by participating in a papermaking workshop, visitors soon feel that they are part of the Circus. Just as ringmasters in any other circus enrich the audience's experience, Science Circus staff members make a visit to the Circus especially memorable. They answer questions, give demonstrations, lead workshops, maintain exhibits and spur visitors to ask questions. In fact, unanimous praise has greeted the Circus staff wherever they have stopped.

The Circus is sure to provide an amazing spectacle for St. Albert, and many people will definitely think back to old school days and their science classes, a class that many found to be very interesting.

TO THE EDITOR

PLAUDITS FOR POOL PEOPLE!

Nice people attend family swim time at the Fountain Park Pool. Also the lifeguards deserve a big bouquet! Last night my six year old lost a contact lense in the small pool. A mother used her son's goggles to try to retrieve it. Many others offered help. Two lifeguards spent alot of time and finally were successful. I really appreciated all the help. Not many would bother about a tiny contact lense in a public pool!

Thanks to all!

MINOR HOCKEY IS FUN

As spokesman for our team, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the organizers for our Mite "A" Hockey League. In particular, we would like to thank Ed McKinnley for doing an excellent job as director, after being assigned the job in mid-season. Our opposing coaches were extremely competitive, but also good sportsmen throughout the winter. The referees also did a very good job under the pressure of fans and playoffs. Fan support was also great for our entire season and we would like to thank all our great fans and parents.

In closing, we can only say these people have made a coaching job extremely satisfying, enjoyable and worth the time spent with the boys.

EVANSBURGANS UNITE!

This year is a very special one for the Village of Evansburg. We are celebrating our 25th Anniversary as being an efficient, functioning Village.

A weekend extravaganza will take place in Evansburg commencing August 3 - 6, involving such activities as dances, fastball tournaments, barbecues, displays, pancake breakfast and an open air church service, just to mention a few. And because Evansburg is known throughout provinces as being the only town with one GROUCH - as our sign indicates as one enters the town - we are hosting a GROUCH OF THE YEAR AWARD, to determine who he/she really is. This award is the feature attraction of our festivities.

The list for eligible candidates, which is chosen by the residents of Evansburg, is on the incline everyday, with the final GROUCH being awarded with a trophy and certificate on August 4.

We hope our celebration throughout this weekend will be a success and full of fun and entertainment for everyone young and old.

Possibly through your newspaper services, you could publicize our 25th Anniversary Celebrations as an article.

What are the chances of winning the next lottery? This Probability Game, might give you some idea. It's one of dozens of exhibits which, with demonstrations, workshops and lively staff, make up the Ontario Science Circus. During International Year of the Child through a National Museum's Assistance Program, the Circus is visiting nine Canadian cities including St. Albert.

REFEREE PURVES

"I'm sorry Alderman Leger, but I am calling you to order," said Mayor Cec Purves at Tuesday's council meeting. The mayor was refereeing a clash between Aldermen Norris and Leger, when Norris took after Leger for releasing the annexation plan to the press in advance.

come down $100 on the average single family house, Sherwood Park's might increase 12-15 percent and Edmonton taxes would stabilize with no significant change. (Economist Harries later backed up this assessment of taxation).

Also of interest to St. Albert and the M.D. Sturgeon area were Mr. Podmore's comments on Edmonton's concern with the large and fragmented country buildings (acreages) in the area. Pressure will come on Edmonton in the future to upgrade sewer and water systems, and the city feels we are nearing a limit in this area of development.

Storm drainage requirements of Edmonton are another large concern, he said, and the boundary extension should include Big Lake.

Alderman Butti said the major expansion was an "absolute necessity, along with a single unit government, as borne out by all the studies done over the years.

Also we must have land for heavy industry, she said and a 40-year supply of land is proper planning.

DISAPPOINTED WITH PROVINCE

Alderman Norris said it was unfortunate no action was taken by the provincial government over the years, when all reports were supportive of Edmonton's position. He also questioned the need for the change which made cabinet approval necessary for annexations.

Alderman Campbell was concerned that country residences will further proliferate as it is now possible for these parcels to be subdivided. She deplored the annexation process via LAB which has become an "adversary" process. Adjacent communities are dependent on Edmonton for many services she said, and I have concerns regarding education.

Percy Wickman said he would oppose the proposals not being "totally convinced." He was unhappy that the Province treats Edmonton in a manner totally different from their treatment of Calgary. The city needs more control that is afforded by ERPC, he said.

A SANE FUTURE

Alderman Hayter supported the resolution to apply for the large annexation "wholeheartedly." We have engaged the best people to provide us with the facts, such as Tom Plunkett, recognized as a major authority on local government. "We must plan for a sane future," he said, "and many American cities have been ruined by class-designed suburbs on their fringes (a reference to St. Albert's refusal to accept low-cost housing.) A small periphery should not have the power to lay the seeds of decay in the central city."

Alderman Leger did not agree with figures presented by the consultants re. a stabilized tax base for Edmonton and thought the big annexation would result in higher costs for Edmonton, therefore higher taxes. An explicit and detailed explanation by Mr. Harries failed to change his mind. He supported the "Premier's dream" of decentralization and said "our sister communities" can be served by contract arrangements.

DESTROY ST. ALBERT? NONSENSE

"The motion that this proposal would destroy St. Albert or Sherwood Park is palpable nonsense" declared Alderman Hewes in her opening remarks. The integrity of the Hanson principle has been upheld through all the studies done, she said, and despite the Premier's dream, this city will grow. We can't just let it happen without planning and we must have land to accommodate that growth. At present, she said a low-density shell around our city depends upon a strong city centre. While I respect my colleagues in ERPC, the Commission cannot fulfill the city's planning function, she added. "We must apply for a boundary we can defend res-possibly. The infra structure around Edmonton is not too complicated now - but it will be, and then it will be too late." She said also that there is no point in planning if we do not have the (political) jurisdiction to make the plans come true, concluding the aldermen's comments on the unitary government theme.

A GUT FEELING

Alderman Percy Wickman said he opposed the massive annexation "with some difficulty, and favoured self-determination for St. Albert, Sherwood Park and other municipalities." "I have a gut feeling this is not the way to go."

Board backing city

Members of the Catholic School Board passed a motion Monday that put them on record as supporting Mayor Ron Harvey's letter to the City of Edmonton expressing St. Albert's desire to retain its autonomy and oppose Edmonton's annexation plans.

The Board was unanimous in its support of the city's letter which Trustee Jerry Manegre described as taking a "very positive position on behalf of the city."

The letter reads: "This letter is in response to your City's presentation entitled Horizon 21, made to the members of the Council of the City of St. Albert in St. Albert on January 16, 1979."

There would seem to be merit in the statement of intention set out in the introduction of your project presentation which reads in part as follows:

"Project Horizon 21 is being undertaken as an intensive effort to objectively assess the full range of land use and government form options available in the Edmonton area."

The difficulty we see with that intent is that the study is being undertaken at the initiative and on behalf of the City of Edmonton whose past policies have reflected a total bias in favour of a single or uni-city form of local government unit in the Edmonton area, to be expanded as and when the City of Edmonton deems it appropriate. Our concern would be that, without questioning their professional competence and integrity, consultants retained and paid for by the City of Edmonton would be expected to reflect in their approach to the study the interests of the City of Edmonton.

You have not indicated whether it is the intention of your City to include within its proposed application the annexation of the City of St. Albert. We do know, however, from media reports your own position which is the uni-city concept and until there is a clear indication of a change of opinion, we can only assume (wisely) that, if not in the short term, then in the long term, the objective is the total integration of the community of St. Albert into that of the City of Edmonton and the elimination of the separate and autonomous municipal entity known as the City of St. Albert.

It is important that you, and the members of your council, know that St. Albert sees no logical or valid reason, either from a servicing, planning or economic point of view, for the City of St. Albert to be annexed to Edmonton. This should not be interpreted as being an expression of dislike. On the contrary, many of us are proud of the City of Edmonton and proud of its accomplishments. We happen to believe very sincerely that a diversity of municipal units forming a metropolitan region, each offering a range of choice in lifestyles as a desirable and healthy environment benefitting all citizens of the region. We believe also that the best interests of the Province as a whole are not necessarily served by a concentration of economic and influential powers into the hands of two large urban centres.

We also wish you to know that the City of St. Albert desires to co-operate fully in any undertaking which will be for the benefit of our respective communities and its citizens, as well as the citizens of other area municipalities. We reserve the right to view matters differently and on occasion to do things differently but that can all be achieved without disharmony in an atmosphere of goodwill and meaningful partnership.

In conclusion and perhaps to get to the essential point of this letter, the Council of the City of St. Albert, so long as it enjoys the support of its electorate, will resist to the fullest extent of its resources any and all efforts by your government to seek denial of the full expression of the citizens of St. Albert to the enjoyment of their own form of government."

Ronald Harvey,
Mayor,
City of St. Albert.

• Hospital auxiliary ball • marks decade of service

This spring, on Saturday, April 28, the Sturgeon General Hospital Auxiliary will stage its annual Spring Ball. This year's dance is something of a milestone in the life of the auxiliary, as it marks the 10th year that the ball has been held and the 10th year of the auxiliary's operation. Over the last decade, the Spring Ball has been the high point in the social calendar of an organization which has contributed much to quality of health care and hospitalization in this municipality.

This year, as usual, Auxiliary members and guests will be 'tripping the light fantastic' at the Club Mocombo. The Sound Merchants will make the music and a smorgasbord will be served at 7:30 p.m. There is a limited number of tickets, so those planning to attend should get them soon. Tickets are $25 per couple and can be obtained by phoning Marion Kay at 459-7488 or Kay Wilson 459-8122. This year's ball will be an occasion to celebrate the vitality of a group which works hard to complement the efforts of the medical profession in the provision of top-flight medical care.

The Sturgeon General Hospital Auxiliary got off to a running start in 1969, a few months before the hospital opened. At this time, they held meetings at the Youville Home to plan their goals and programs. During that first year, the idea of a Spring Ball was introduced and met with an enthusiastic response.

On August 5, 1970, the Sturgeon General Hospital opened its doors for the first time, and the work of the Auxiliary began in earnest. Fund raising has always been one of the group's first priorities, and since its inception its members have raised many thousands of dollars to improve patient care, both on technological and personal levels. The members have used a number of innovative approaches to fund raising over the years, including Beerfests, a Gift Shop, Strawberry Teas, Wine and Cheese parties and raffles. The funds raised have purchased a wide variety of goods and services to augment and complement hospital care.

Many major equipment purchases have enabled hospital staff to carry out tests, treatments and therapies with greater speed, accuracy, and efficiency. These include an orthopedic cart, a refrigerator, an electrocardiograph (ECG) unit, a Hydrocolor-Hot Pack for physiotherapy, a case room table, a hemoglobinmeter or blood counter to reduce the time required to do blood counts, a Defibrillator and Monitor, a fetal heart monitor, an ice machine, a Handi-Vent, a heated nebulizer, an ultrasonic nebulizer, a polaroid processing unit, a group tent and cribs.

PERSONAL TOUCH COUNTS

The auxiliary has not forgotten that health care should also include attention to the personal needs of the patient. To this end, the group has supplied hair dryers, razors, pictures, card tables, televisions in the solariums, and books. The patients who must remain in hospital over Christmas enjoy a cheerier Christmas through the donation of gifts by the auxiliary, to both adults and children. A Christmas party is also held on the pediatrics ward.

Two services provided by the Auxiliary have become familiar and essential components of hospital life. One is the gift shop at which handicrafts made by members are sold, along with a good selection of articles needed by patients, such as snacks, toothpaste, shampoo, books and magazines. The auxiliary cart is a mobile extension of the shop. Known affectionately to punning members as the "aux cart," the little store on wheels makes its rounds once a week, selling its wares to bedbound patients. Many a hospital stay has been made more pleasant by repeated visits to the shop and the cart.

All these activities are carried out by the Auxiliary's 37 paid-up members, assisted by a host of associated volunteers. The volunteers provide invaluable help in the gift shop, which requires many woman-hours to keep it running.

To indicate its appreciation of its dues-paying members, the Auxiliary awards long service pins to commemorate 100 hours and 500 hours of service. In 1977, hospital officials unveiled a plaque in recognition of those members who have donated 1,000 hours or more of their time to the auxiliary. The plaque hangs in the hospital lobby and names are added each year.

Members of the Auxiliary attribute much of their success in hospital support to public co-operation, of which they are warmly appreciative. If the next 10 years are to be as successful as the first, continued co-operation will be needed.

This year, the Auxiliary hopes to raise $12,000 for use at the hospital. Whether or not members of the public like to dwell on the fact, many will find themselves in hospital for some reason, in coming years, benefitting from funds raised by the Auxiliary. Support for the Sturgeon General Hospital Auxiliary is a way of insuring that a stay in hospital will be as comfortable and beneficial as the staff and the Auxiliary can make it.

Kindergarten wants co-op busing

Members of the Parish Kindergarten executive met with Catholic school trustees Monday to discuss the possibility of commencing a co-operative busing scheme. It would involve pupils of that school and those in the District's French Immersion Early Childhood Schooling (ECS) program at Father Jan School.

After some discussion around whether or not a co-operative busing arrangement between the kindergarten and the district would effect the contract now existing between the two parties the matter was turned over to district administration for further study. The administration's recommendation will come before the Board, April 2.

A letter from Father Jan Principal Ray Pinco, and concerns that ramifications involving the ATA would enter the picture prompted Superintendent Bill Zielinski to ask the Board to look over the entire contract and not deal with busing as a separate issue.

Parish Kindergarten Treasurer Jim Harris told Board members that his organization was feeling "severe financial pressure now." He said the pupil/teacher ratio issue the K Board was attempting to deal with couldn't be settled before busing was firmed up. He didn't see that busing could not be dealt with that night. Other K Board members, however, agreed that Mr. Pinco's letter added a second dimension and would like to look it over before any decision was made.

Dick Johnston gets council nod

In response to a request from none other municipalities, St. Albert's city council passed a motion Monday night to inform Premier Peter Lougheed that it wishes to have the Hon. Dick Johnston continue as Minister of Municipal Affairs. Like the other municipalities members of the local council stated that they did not always agree with Mr. Johnston's actions. However, all stated that they had found him to be capable, fair and accessible.

Council gave first and second reading to a bylaw which will remove the present Day Care debenture and substitute a lesser debenture figure for it. The city's one-time capital grant application to reduce the outstanding debentures on the centre has been accepted, allowing the city to pay off 80 percent of the outstanding debenture debt. The balance will be paid under the Debt Reduction Plan.

Council awarded tenders for improvements on Gervais Road from Grange to Levasseur to Peter Kiewett Sons Co. Ltd. for $386,766.10.

Council moved to approve six recommended phases in the budget process. Under this system, budget meetings will be closed, until the committee has a revised draft budget to present to Committee of the Whole. After this committee approves it, there is a two week period for public input, after which it is adopted by council.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Marie Rose Vantighen celebrated her 97th birthday on March 17. Marie Rose was born in St. Albert in 1882, and has lived here all of her life. She has an older brother who is 102 years young, living in B.C.

a cost of $15,000. The motion to approve the project was made by Ald. Liesbeth Bakker who commented that the addition of the steeplechase would put St. Albert in a unique position to host important national and provincial track meets. Ald. Rod Thordson agreed, saying that even two large meets a year would bring in business to the community. He pointed out that even Edmonton does not have such a facility, as it was taken out to accommodate CFL football.

Ald. Breadner and Smith spoke out against the expenditure, and Mrs. Smith stated the new track had not been built to accommodate big meets with large crowds. Ald. Breadner asked Mrs. Bakker if she was suggesting that St. Albert be advertised as the "only city in Northern Alberta with a steeplechase!" He stated he could not approve the project. Mayor Ronald Harvey said he supported the motion "one hundred percent" as it would be worth $15,000 to get a first-class track. The motion to approve carried by a narrow 4-3 margin.

Disappointment was in store for the Tennis Club, however, as the proposal to add two more courts on the Mission courts was referred to the 1980 budget meetings. It will be necessary to build the Midget ball diamond first before the Mission courts can be expanded, because the diamond presently on the Mission site would interfere with expansion plans.

Pupil records policy in works

Protestant district administrators are in the process of drafting a policy "related to the accessibility and availability of student records to parents or guardians" following a motion by Trustee Ernie Wynychuk, March 14.

At present no policy exists on whether parents or guardians have access to records kept by the school relating to their children and school administrators have handled cases as they see fit. Superintendent Elmer Gish says he has had no complaints to date.

The superintendent will be checking legal status on the Board in the matter. He says it is quite possible they could not withhold the information any way. Separated parents and their rights will also be checked out as some cases have arisen where one has asked that the other be denied access to records.

Another question to be answered is whether access to behavior records should be included. Mr. Gish said some parents may take exception to the information on these cards.

The policy, when it comes before the Board for approval, will include academic, attendance and behavior records.

Local library declares amnesty

Have you any old library books cluttering up the house? The library would like to have them back, at no cost to you. During the week of March 25 to March 31, no fines will be charged for overdue books.

Mr. Dennis Ward, library chairman, said over 1,100 books had not been returned in 1978, almost double the number of books not returned in 1977. By not charging a fine for books which are overdue, the Board hopes many of its borrowers will find time to return library books which are lying about the house.

The week of March 25 to March 31 was selected to coincide with Spring Break, to allow children time to rummage through the house and bring in any overdue books which might be tucked away in various book shelves. The library hopes to recover much of its long overdue material.

The book drop will be available during the day for those who are unable to come into the library and return their books to the desk.

Ed committee getting closer

Catholic School Trustee Jerry Manegre's proposal for a standing committee on education moved one step closer to reality Monday when it was referred to the Board's Policy Committee Monday evening.

The Policy Committee will have information from both the Protestant District and Sturgeon Division regarding Education Committees in their systems to look over. As well, a directive from the Board has asked that the committee determine terms of reference for the new standing committee which is to be established to review existing and proposed programs offered by the District.

Around Town

Ken Browne dropped in Sunday, looking fit and trim and reporting an exceptionally busy season in Banff. He was in town to help celebrate the wedding anniversary of his parents, Derek and Dorothy, and the birthday of kid brother, Scott, which also falls on March 18. He also wanted to have a visit with grandfather Browne, who is presently in Sturgeon General Hospital.

Patti O'Neil and Renata Joly from St. Albert High, and Trudy Marie McCann and Tracy-Jo Sullivan from

Paul Kane High are being sponsored by the St. Albert Breakfast Lions Club for an overseas student exchange program this summer. Patti will visit Sweden and the other three girls will spend six weeks in Japan.

Board ready with budget

The Finance Committee of the Protestant School Board will present its final budget draft to the Board tomorrow evening for approval. The committee met last night to prepare the draft.

Board meetings are held in the District office building directly east of Fountain Park Recreation Centre on Sir Winston Churchill. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Very interesting

The Winnipeg Free Press story by Dave Bonner, picked up in the current issue of Maclean's magazine is an interesting example of the woes Canadians are facing as they consider amending their constitution. Taxpayers woes especially!

A resident of St. Boniface, Georges Forest, refused to pay a parking ticket three years ago because he says he is entitled to receive municipal bills in the French language under the City of Winnipeg Act. The judge said not so under Manitoba's Official Languages Act. Now Forest and his lawyer are arguing the Manitoba Act of 1870 is unconstitutional, and oh how those bills run up. Forest's legal fees are being picked up by Ottawa, estimated at $57,000 to date, with more to come. Should Forest win his case the Manitoba government will face the high costs of duplicating all legislative and court documents in French.

From soup to salad... was about 10 blocks

Progressive Dinners are back in style, to the surprise of St. Albert Rangers.

Last Wednesday they trailed around the city with the Morinville Girl Guides as their guests: punch at Anne Marie Willott's, soup at Bernadette Bolton's, salad at Laura McLachlan's, lasagne at Amylee Milke's and angel food and ice cream at Norma Smith's home.

The Morinville girls at the lengthy dinner were Alaina Dingman, Clare Boudreault, Audrey McGuire, Paula Hopkins, Kelly Butler, and Kathy MacDonald with their leader Marlene MacDonald.

But that was just the start. Bernadette found as she attended a Provincial Ranger Camp this last weekend at Pigeon Lake with 70 other Rangers (senior Girl Guides) that the Edmonton and Calgary groups were all talking about progressive dinners. Norma Smith heard the same at the Provincial training she attended in Edmonton the same weekend.

And this Saturday Edmonton Rovers (senior Boy Scouts) have invited St. Albert Rangers and Edmonton Ranger groups to join them in ... guess what, a progressive

Shopping Centre underway

. . . . and after

We've all been waiting a long time to shop in the regional shopping centre. Rumours abound as to whether the facility will ever be built. Well, we can all relax. The centre, or more exactly, the St. Albert Centre (as the developers Abacus Cities and Hudson Bay have dubbed it) is scheduled for completion next spring; one year later than originally projected. Work commenced at the site late last week.

Soil conditions have received premier attention from St. Albert residents as the reason for the delay but the project manager Bill Duncan told the Gazette this was unjustly so. The company has known about the soil conditions for several years. They knew about the need for a concrete pad upon which to construct the centre before the land was purchased from Abbey Glen, the previous owners. It was the paperwork preceding financial arrangements that purportedly caused the 'tie-up'. The money lenders wanted everything in place before the purse strings were loosened.

Mr. Duncan says that by the time the final details were worked out and financing was in place, Abacus and their equal partner Hudson Bay missed getting a start on the centre last fall by only "five or six weeks". As it was frost beat them to the punch and forced a delay.

Leasing Manager Kevin Bruce says the winter lay-over was definitely not intentional nor were any other delays incurred by the project. He pointed out that The Bay certainly didn't want any delays and had been hoping to open in time for Christmas shoppers in 1979. When two partners get into a project on the scale of a regional shopping centre the time frame needed for settling on financing, design, engineering, etc. is expanded significantly from that needed for the same project undertaken by a lone principal reasoned Mr. Bruce. (A December 6 Gazette story quotes a Bay spokesman saying the delay had caused his company "tremendous inconvenience". It also notes The Bay had just recently signed an agreement with Abacus).

Both principals spent some time looking over prospective major tenants including a food store and a second department store. They went with Safeway after looking at other major food retailers and determining that Safeway matched the centre's concept the closest.

Woolco was eventually selected to join The Bay and Safeway as "anchors" in the development with a third major department store to be added in phase two. (Phase two is contracted to be completed within another 10 years but Messrs. Duncan and Bruce both feel that the second phase will be completed in three to five years). The third department store hasn't been named to date.

Finalizing the tenancy of Woolco was a major factor contributing to missing the spring 1979 opening. Architects had to wait for this design before final plans could be submitted to Canada Trust (permanent financing) and the Bank of Montreal (interim financing). The whole process of negotiations was described as being very lengthy, yet necessary before any financial arrangements could be set in place. To risk oversimplification - Canada Trust wasn't about to 'buy a pig in a poke'.

NATIONAL CHAINS

Leasing Manager Bruce says the delay has made his job easier by giving him time to land more top quality tenants, many of whom will be national chains. He said he has also been talking to owners of local operations, some of whom will be locating in the new complex.

The national chains are expected to put in "flagship" stores in the new St. Albert Centre which was promoted 'down east' as the hub of a lucrative consumer market comprising of the province's highest spenders. The average St. Albert household has an annual SURPRISE YOURSELF!

In most cases, filling out your own income tax return is easier than you may think.

It's largely a matter of simple arithmetic. You don't have to pay someone to do something you can do yourself.

Just follow the six basic steps in the Guide you received with your income tax return. Don't forget to attach all the proper receipts, and double check your return before mailing it.

It's that easy. So go ahead. Surprise yourself.

Continued From Page A 10 income projected by Abacus to reach $33,825 next year. They also project the trading area to reach a merchandise potential of $77 million next year. Abacus figures show St. Albert's income to be 19% higher than Edmonton's which is currently 17% higher than the national average.

Abacus brochures point to the rapid growth in the area and the lack of competition from other retailers. "Retail development has been held back for over five years causing a retail deficiency of over 400,000 square feet; delayed because of the city's determination to secure a regional shopping centre development. The only competition is an older downtown area and a handful of neighbourhood shopping centres."

WHO'S IN

Tenant mix is weighted toward fashions with approximately 10 ladies wear, four men's wear, and five shoe stores expected. There will also be several stores carrying accessories.

Smitty's Restaurant and Shopper's Drug Mart will occupy the corner of the main entrance near The Bay. At the opposite end of the mall (east) will be a food fair area similar to Kingsway Mall's. It looks like Coles Books and A & A Records will locate, although no leases have been signed.

Safeway (at 41,700 square feet) will be leasing floor space greater than any other Safeway store in Western Canada.

Total commercial floor space is 328,500 square feet including The Bay (95,200), Woolco (104,100) and Safeway. Phase two allows for increased floor space in Woolco, The Bay and Safeway along with the addition of approximately 40 shops and a fourth department store.

St. Albert Centre's exterior has been designed with the concept of the Red Willow Park along the Sturgeon River in mind. The pebbled walls are tapered on an inward slant to the roof. The entire centre is only one floor in height so as to blend better with the river valley. Landscaping will include trees set in sidewalks and grassed areas. Details of work along the river bank have not yet been worked out.

The interior will feature 'park-like settings' and warm, earth tone colours. Skylights will be situated above trees set into the mall. Reflective linear ceilings will add to the 'openness' of the mall area.

Traffic lights where St. Vital intersects the St. Albert Trail will be installed in the not very distant future, signalling the approach of increased self-reliance for St. Albert.

P.S. - No mention has been made of any movie theatre.

Seniors hold party to honor St. Pat

The Senior Citizens Centre believes in the "wearing of the green" on appropriate occasions, so when the day arrived for the St. Patrick's Day celebration, the centre was all decked out for the day. The seniors celebrated St. Paddy's Day on March 15.

The ensuing party was really a triple celebration, for St. Patrick Mrs. Van Gighem aged 97 and Mrs. Barnett aged 86. The ladies both had birthdays to celebrate.

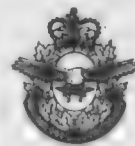

Almost 100 people attended the festivities. In attendance were Mayor and Mrs. Harvey, Mr. Ernie Jamison, Charles Gale, Superintendent of Social Services and Dennis Maier, provincial P.S.S. consultant.

The mayor had high praise for the volunteers who work hard to ensure a hot lunch is provided each Thursday for those who use the service. The meal is served at the Senior's Centre on Tache Street, as part of the meals-on-wheels program. Olga Buma and Jenny Allen are in charge of this program.

Then it was time for some musical tributes to the Emerald Isle. The Groovy Group rose to the occasion and entertaining the crowd with many old Irish favorites, which were heartily enjoyed.

St. Albert Air Cadets in Review

By F/Sgt. C. Lelbel
Thursday, March 15, #533 cadets and three officers departed from the community hall for a tour of Namao Base. Both trips, there and back were accompanied by the singing of good old camp songs.

Once the two buses arrived at Namao Base, cadets were divided into three groups. Each group was accompanied by an officer. Cadets were shown all around a hanger.

LAC D. Granley, who is presently taking the air frame and engines course offered by the squadron, explained the different exterior parts of the aircraft, a Hercules C130, while we waited for someone to show us the interior of the air- Please Turn to Page A 14

Kiwanis reports more dollars needed

The Kiwanis Music Festival became an "instant tradition" the first year it was staged. St. Albertans took to the idea with alacrity, expressing pride in the event. However, sometimes even with such a popular project, enthusiasm dims when the pocketbook enters the picture.

The fund raising situation is nothing new in St. Albert. However, the Kiwanis Club members have been successful in their attempts, using a mixture of methods to earn the needed monies. The Kiwanians needed a total of $6,500 to stage the festival, $1,000 of which was raised by traditional door to door canvass. Posters were given to those who contributed. Alberta Culture provides a grant of $1 for every entry registered at last year's festival, which netted the Kiwanis Club $291 this year. (Because of increased registration this grant will rise to $425 next year). In addition, the club has applied for a city grant of $1,250 which has yet to be decided. Finally, monies realized from admissions and programs are expected to total $350. Thus, the club has been faced with the task of raising approximately $3700 from individuals and businesses.

To do this, Kiwanis fund raiser Doug Wiffen sent a letter to local businesses explaining the value of the Festival and soliciting their support for this community event. Doug reports that this approach has met with a gratifying response, although more dollars are still needed to make the festival the success it can be. With a little luck and some civic spirit, this money should be forthcoming.

We wish to thank the following donors for their generous support of the 1979 (3rd Annual) St. Albert Kiwanis Music Festival. Without their support, we would be unable to stage the Music Festival.

Bylaw No. 23/71, Lot A, Block 22, Plan 5267 R.S. was zoned, prior to September 19, 1977 as C-2 (neighborhood commercial) as shown on the attached plan "A."

2. Under the provisions of Bylaw No. 32/77, the City of St.
Albert rezoned a portion of Lot A, Block 22, Plan 5267 R.S. to R1c (single family residential detached and semi-detached) as shown on the attached plan "B."

Notice Of Public Hearing

3. The validity of Bylaw No. 32/77 is currently the subject matter of unresolved Court litigation.

4. The City of St. Albert desires to adjust the boundaries of the commercial portion, rezone that portion to C-1 and also to remove the present uncertainty relating to the validity of Bylaw No. 32/77.

5. The City of St. Albert proposes to pass Bylaw No. 4/79, being a bylaw to rezone Lot A, Block 22, Plan 5267 R.S. to C1 (commercial) and R1c (single family residential - detached and semi-detached) as shown on the attached plan "C."

6. The portion of Lot A, Block 22, Plan 5267 R.S. which is to be zoned C1 (commercial) is approximately 1 acre in area and is described as follows:

"commencing at the southeast corner of the intersection of Sir Winston Churchill Avenue and Fairview Boulevard, thence southerly 358 feet $\pm$ to a point, thence northeasterly 161 feet $\pm$ to a point, thence northwesterly 238 feet $\pm$ to a point, thence northerly 89 feet $\pm$ to a point, thence southwesterly 220 feet $\pm$ to the point of commencement."

7. All of Lot A, Block 22, Plan 5267 R.S., excepting thereout that portion described in paragraph six preceding, is to be zoned R1c (single family residential - detached and semi-detached)

8. The proposed Bylaw No. 4/79 also repeals Bylaw No.

9. The proposed use is a residential development comprised of 26 semi-detached and 7 detached dwellings and approx. 12,000 sq. ft. of retail/office space.

10. The proposed Bylaw may be examined between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays at the Office of the City Clerk in City Hall, St. Albert. Enquiries regarding the proposal may be made at the Planning Services Department at City Hall, St. Albert.

11. Council will hold a Public Hearing on the proposed Bylaw on Monday, April 2, 1979 at 7:45 p.m. in the Council Chambers, City Hall Annex, at which time any person claiming to be affected by the proposed Bylaw shall be afforded the opportunity to be heard.

12. Written representation concerning the manner in which any provision of the proposed Bylaw may affect him, will be received by the City Clerk until 12 Noon, Friday, March 30,

'Bistro Car' is on the right track

By Vicky Knight

The Rapido might have been a fast train but it can't compete with "A Bistro Car on the CNR." Toronto-to-Montreal on greased rails could never fly by with the dazzling speed that took a delighted audience from Overture to Finale at the Rice Theatre. All around me, people were incredulous that the show was over but magical interludes are always fleeting. The show is zippy, fresh and irreverently entertaining.

Reflections on "Bistro Car" must inevitably lead to the usual Canadian maudlinings about our style and identity. However, in this case it is a valid line of thought although I'm probably courting disaster in pursuing the ephemeral Canadian style. However, if there is such an animal, it must be that reflected in this production. The tone is low-key which is never to be confused with "dull," often wrongly said to be our one unifying characteristic. (What a great image that conjures up -- little knots of anemic people perched on snowdrifts, breathlessly anticipating the next curling bonspiel and brooding over the merits of RRSPs.) No, the Canadians depicted here are not dull, far from it. Their humour is sly, the gentle dig in the ribs to draw attention to shared foibles. Canadians secretly savour their own eccentricities (even the weather) and lyricists Richard Ouzanian and Merv Campbell, and dialogue author D. R. Anderson seem to understand this illusory self-depreciation. They avoid the tendency to confuse it with the so-called inferiority complex that has been incorrectly attributed to us. They have also perceived the nuances of Canadian laughter. Hee haw guffaws are rarely heard from Canadians, except perhaps when they are pretending politely to be amused. No, our laughs tend to the interior chuckle and "Bistro Car" provides plenty of them.

Like a large percentage of Canadian work, Bistro Car has a deliberately concentrated focus. We would rather scrutinize closeup than be dazed by the Big Picture. Here the small world of the Bistro Car is the focal point, and if that in turn has a message about the larger view of the country as a whole, fine. But the microcosm of the train stands very well by itself without dragging larger issues into it. It has no need of being an extended metaphor for Canada. We can safely leave the Big Picture to Pierre Berton.

FRESH MATERIAL IRRESISTIBLE

With these reflective maudlinings on our national panache out of my system, I can now proceed to rain plaudits on the heads of all those who had a hand in "Bistro Car". Each musical number was distinct and unexpected, little vignettes in song that say all kinds of things about life in general and life here in particular.

The lyricists have ignored the comforting certainty of the cliché and opted for zanier and more affecting modes of expression. I have heard of no other song for instance which deals with the trauma of turning 30, and this year, the problem is all too real to me, at least. (Perhaps because in the newspaper trade, "30" signifies the end.) Rose's succinct little tune was comforting -- I am not withering alone.

"The Guitarist" told of the trials of a blues-bound musician. Patrick Rose was very funny as he plucked his way into a request for "Happy Birthday," only to succumb to the blues partway through the tribute. The flatted third and seventh notes crept in and "Happy Birthday" began to sound like "St. James Infirmary." Great stuff! "Bring Back Swing" was a sort of joyous lament for a by-gone style and Richard Ouzanian's choreography had lots of pep and 40s bounce. I took a righteous delight in Four Part Invention in which the four cast members each telephoning a lover or mate, inventing elaborate tales to cover their adulterous tracks. It was as impudent as a wink at a Baptist revival.

In a more serious vein, "Riding North" is a haunting melody. In my blissful ignorance of the music business, I can't help but wonder how it would do if released as a single... "La Belle Province" had much to say and said it well. Clear statements on this particular subject are as rare these days as discreet remarks from Maggie Trudeau.

The performers in "Bistro Car" must walk a fine line between amateur exuberance and the demands of professionalism. This requires control and a sense of proportion, but the cast at the Rice had no problem.

combining unquenchable zest and precise timing. Please Turn to Page A 19

Music ... as I hear it!

By Razbo

Music is a matter of taste and quite often a reviewer and his readers disagree as far as an album's appeal goes. But ... here's an album you can not help but enjoy from start to finish. I'm going to discuss it today to answer the question, "I'm just getting into jazz what do you suggest that I listen to?" My answer ...

LOUIE BELLSON'S 7

At the Concord Summer Festival in 1976 Louis Bellson was very busy, but his best work there was with a dynamite septet. He selected the septet with the idea of playing tight, small combo arrangements with spin-offs into extended solos. Featured on the album is Pete Christlieb - tenor sax, Blue Mitchell - trumpet, Dick Nash - trombone, John Williams - bass, Ross Tompkins - piano, Grant Geissman - guitar and Louie Bellson on drums a special set-up by Remo just for the Summer Festival which included roto toms.

Side 1 - Louis gives a short hi-hat intro into Pete Christlieb and Bill Sloan's "Now and Then," with Pete stepping in with very vibrant sax work. Blue Mitchell smooths it out with more melodic trumpet lines. The piano work of Tompkins near the end of the tune really loosens it up leading to a short solo by Bellson featuring the double bass. Louie has been using the double bass effect since the early 50's. There is so much to listen to on this album and all of it is good.

Throughout the whole album listen to the precise work of Williams and Bellson as they back the soloists. Williams adds the heartbeat to the entire album with jolts of innovation contributed by Geissman and Tompkins.

The bulk of side one is a medley which gives everyone a chance to strut their stuff. "Here's That Rainy Day" is a quiet number featuring Geissman. Bellson switches to brushes and Tompkins plays most delicately. Tompkins takes the group into "My Old Flame" very artfully, still on the quiet, easy side. Mitchell comes in with "It Might As Well Be Spring" so dramatically. He is such a clear, and precise trumpeter. Pete moves into "These Foolish Things Remind Me of You" so effortlessly, and quite reminiscent of Ben Webster. I think Nash steals the medley with his solo on "Body and Soul." Tompkins plays the intro and Nash breaks in beautifully, demonstrating his impeccable control. You'll really like his final notes.

"Tru Blue," obviously a Mitchell original, is five minutes of musical genius. Bellson sets the beat, but the congeniality of the horns is a pleasure to hear. The real reward is listening to the three minutes of Blue Mitchell's trumpet work. Louie interjects to give the floor to Pete, who jumps right into the bouncy tune. Bellson is superb on this number and the finale will force you to find out what side two is all about.

Side 2 - Louie Bellson created "Roto Blues" and really turns loose on the roto toms, double bass and snare. The cut starts with Louie and Williams squaring off, with a tickle from Tompkins, and then the horns come in. This song is technically sound and a good start for this flip side. "Starship Concord" is a Grant Geissman number and gives Christlieb and Mitchell an opportunity to cut loose, running up and down the pentatonic scale. Geissman treats you to a little jazz wah wah pedal and Ross lays in some nice piano.

"Dig," a Miles Davis variation on "Sweet Georgia Brown," gives all the musicians an opportunity to let loose. Williams who doesn't solo much fingers out one of the best bass solos I've heard, bar none.

The entire album is a hallmark of the music world, but special attention must be paid to Bellson who is the dynamic force behind the album, and to Blue Mitchell whom you don't hear much from. It's too bad, as evidenced by this record, he's one mean trumpet player. I hope you get an opportunity to hear this someday.

WHOLE DAY OF MUSIC

This Sunday the Legion Hall in St. Albert will be hopping, as John Lacey brings you another "Day of Steel." Wife Norma has expanded the usual offering to larger facilities to accommodate more musicians and more appreciators. We are all invited just to listen or to ask questions of the many musicians who will be on hand.

Things will get underway at 2 p.m. with John discussing the pedal steel guitar and demonstrating the Sho Bud line of equipment with various accompaniment. After that, it will be pretty wide open, with various musicians from the St. Albert/Edmonton area taking the stage - emphasis on steel. Bill Hersh, who has another release just cut, will be in attendance, as will the well known Joyce Smith. Others include: Willie Joe, Danny Marshall, who played with the original Prairie Fire of Funny Farm fame, Wayne Sketchley, who does a lot of studio work for Royalty Records, (he recently returned from the States where he played with Buddy Emmons), Lenny Belinski, who plays with Hank Smith, Gary Chevalier will be bringing his whole band - Country Classics, and, well, I think you get the idea that the day is worth taking in. Tickets will be available at the door ($3.) or at Panich Music ($2.).

'Wild Duck' opens at Studio Theatre

Studio Theatre's production of The Wild Duck by Henrik Ibsen opens March 29, 1979. Because the graduating professional acting students are involved with a National Film Board Project, this production is slightly different from the three previous ones seen this season. In the tradition of Studio Theatre's early years, the cast consists of fine actors from outside the University, faculty members not only from the Drama Department and students as well. David Barnet, Karen Gort, Marie Gynane, Walter Kaasa, Orest Kinasevich, Manus Sasonkin and Simon Williams are several involved.

Written in 1884, The Wild Duck exudes Ibsen's immense genius. The play centres around the Hjalmar Ekdal household and the havoc wreaked in it by the good intentions of Gregers Werle, a question mark Ibsen made midway through his writing career as he viewed the strict idealism of his early plays with misgiving. Gregers is the fellow who is going to set the world straight - not tomorrow, tonight. As a disciple of the "claims of the ideal," he exposes all forms of insincerity at every turn. But he makes rather a mess of the whole matter, as every character with whom he comes into contact has different (whether good or bad) idealistic values. The play is a comedy-drama, undeniable in its power and stunning in its imagination and technique.

Frank Bueckert directs, with set design by Willie Heslop.

Performances nightly at 8 from Thursday, March 29 to Saturday, April 7 (excluding Sunday, April 1). There will be a Saturday Matinee on March 31 at 2:00. Tickets are $2.50 each and are available from Room 3 - 146, Fine Arts Centre, 112 Street and 89 Avenue, phone 432-2495 or at the door. All performances are at Corbett Hall on the University Campus, at 112 Street and 82 Avenue.

Blues banished by Elizabethan wit

By Vicky Knight

By the time I managed to attend Northern Light's "Love and Drollery," the election campaign and ensuing results (or lack of them) had left me in a jaundiced frame of mind. However, the sprightly Elizabethan musical was the ideal antidote. At its close, I stepped outside with restored faith and a decidedly sweetened disposition. Who could brood over political disappointments after such a charming reminder that it is not, after all, governments that make the world go around.

"Love and Drollery" is precisely what its title suggests -- a droll collection of Elizabethan songs, sonnets, excerpts from Shakespearean comedies and epigrams dealing with our favourite preoccupation, love. The sources are varied, including Christopher Marlowe, John Donne, Andrew Marvell, Thomas Morley and Sir John Suckling. The puns are delightfully sly. My favorite occurred during a husband-wife confrontation, in which the gentleman states plaintively that his wife has been seeking warmth in something other than a fire, while he himself was "left out in the e-e-e-cold!" In his compilation, director Scott Swann uses one of my favorite Shakespearean sonnets, which is a highly unflattering tribute to a mistress, with selected lines as follows: "And in some perfumes is there more delight, Than in the breath that from my mistress reeks." The elegant Marilyn Gann looked genteely incredulous as Scott Swann recited this back-handed compliment to her.

Both of the talented and undefatigable Gann sisters appear in the show, with Angela serving as music director as well as performer. The songs were lovely, sung a cappella by the Ganns, Scott Swann and Allan Lysell. "Robin Loves Me" was a beautiful little piece, sung sweetly by Angela G., whose irrepressible sparkle lit up the production as it did when she played the maid in "A Phoenix Too Frequent." The wit and whimsy of all the pieces came through charmingly, with every syllable resounding clearly and all four parts blending in melodious harmony. The luster passages, like the ditty with the leering fa la la chorus, were handled adroitly by Swann and Lysell in the wry, understated tones of the well brought-up lecher. Scott Swann should come out from behind the scenes more often, particularly in works of Shakespearean or Elizabethan nature. His skills and presence lent themselves well to the spirit of the times.

Teachers of English who find it difficult to instill any enthusiasm in their students for Elizabethan delicacies or indelicacies should trot them along to this production, in its few remaining days. The kids are bound to

Cans returned

Last year Americans returned six billion aluminum cans for recycling -- one of every four aluminum cans manufactured, says National Geographic.

Continents float

Continents are masses of granite "floating" on denser basalt. Geologists believe once there was only a single landmass, which broke up and began drifting apart some 180 million years ago. As rivers deposited sediment at the edges of these new landmasses, the continental shelves were built up, National Geographic says.

awaken to the fact that the Elizabethan were a much more racy and intriguing bunch than we are, with a finer appreciation of the good things in life. Students who misguidedly dismiss Elizabethan speech as flowery and antiquated will no doubt be startled to hear an elegant gentleman of the period (Allan Lysell) expounding hilariously on the subject of flatulence, a subject usually dear to the hearts of most adolescent boys.

All in all, it was a transporting 45 minutes, and I'm glad that I managed, with fifty flimsy excuses, to convince my editor that I should attend it, even at this late date. I'm sure he felt my improved disposition made it well worth it!

'Rita Joe' to close Shoctor season

Closing the 1978/79 season on the Citadel Theatre's Shoctor Stage is a play by Canadian playwright George Ryga. Directed by Randy Maertz, and starring Susan Andre THE ECSTASY OF RITA JOE will open on Wednesday, March 28 and play until April 22.

This will be the first excursion onto the Shoctor Stage for the 27 year old Maertz. He is however, no stranger to Citadel Theatre audiences having previously achieved critical acclaim and record Box Office successes for the plays he has directed this season in the Rice Theatre; Moby Dick Rehearsed, Rashomon, API 2967 and The Chairs/The New Tenant.

"Randy Maertz has directed Rashomon masterfully," Barry Harris, St. John's Edmonton Report "Randy Maertz coaxes from this play every ounce of meaning it possesses."

Dave Billington, Edmonton Sun.

In 1977/78, Randy Maertz received the critics award for Best Director for his production of Play Strindberg.

The success of George Ryga's play has also been exceptional. First performed in 1967 The Ecstasy of Rita Joe was immediately a smash hit. It has since been performed across the country innumerable times, although never before has it been professionally staged in Edmonton. It has been translated into several foreign languages and performed across the globe as well as interpreted as a ballet which toured Canada, Australia and the U.S.

Maertz feels the success of The Ecstasy of Rita Joe is probably attributable to the fact that although it is a uniquely Canadian play, its message is universal. One does not have to be Canadian to understand Rita Joe. According to Maertz, "this is essentially a story about the loss of innocence, in this case the innocence of a young Indian girl who abandons her traditional way of life and struggles to survive in the white man's world." Rita Joe is ultimately raped and murdered, but the rape is far more symbolic than just the physical violation - it is the violation of an entire culture and heritage - the rape of an entire people by an apathetic and sometimes hostile majority.

Susan Andre, playing the title role of Rita Joe, will be remembered by Citadel audiences for her performances in Antigone, The Master Builder and Schweyk and the Second World War. She received the 1977/78 Edmonton critics award for Best Actress for her performance in the Citadel's production of Solange.

STAPLEY SHINES

Having seen Diane Stapley in this show, I feel some evil punishment should be meted out for the twits at CBC who produced her TV show, or as she refers to it, the "turkey." Her vitality and gamine charm were relentlessly smothered by a dated 50's glamour image and mildewed material. Not content to commit this crime against her once, the network felt obliged to repeat themselves on the Beachcombers, substituting a Mounties uniform and inane dialogue. Amazingly she has emerged seemingly unscathed, with talents unatrophied. She performs with a verve and élan which is clearly beyond the ken of network nabobs.

Kathy McGlynn is a veritable powerhouse, and I expect in a few years we will be reading pronouncements from rarified reviews, describing her in the correct critical clichés as a "formidable talent." She's an intuitive, gutsy actress and singer who radiates energy and high spirits. Her throaty voice did a lovely contraband with Stapley's sweeter tones.

Patrick Rose, who both composed the music and performs in the show is making his theatrical debut here, although his musical and T.V. experience is extensive. His urbanity mingles with a nice lack of pretension, and he's no slouch in the comic timing department... as seen in the Guitarist and "Oh God I'm Thirty!"

Ross Douglas has a voice most women fantasize waking up to and he uses it to great effect. His is the most subdued style onstage but I enjoyed the contrast. It is possible to o.d. on vim, vigour and shining faces, and Douglas' more reserved manner gave balance to the buoyancy of the others.

FARLIE'S HAPPY WANDERERS

A three week cruise of Barbados and other Caribbean islands in January was a great mid-winter break for Elizabeth-Anne and George Potter of St. Albert. They report that the weather was perfect and that they enjoyed the Greek ship the Jupiter (including Greek food). The cruise included Guadeloupe, Antigua, St. Croix, St. Lucia, Grenada, Martinique, Curacao and Caracas, Venezuela. They toured several islands, sunned themselves on beautiful beaches, watched glass blowing in Caracas and went deep-sea fishing, where Mr. Potter hooked "a fish that got away." They were "100 percent satisfied" with Farlie's services and Mr. Potter says, "I'm just waiting for summer to see where they'll send us next winter."

Let Farlie send you, too!

Did you get Unemployment Insurance in 1978?

If so, you have probably received a tax information slip (T4U) in the mail. You need it for your tax return.

If the slip hasn't arrived, you can apply in person...

If you didn't get a T4U, go to your local Canada Employment Centre (Unemployment Insurance or Manpower Services). Ask for a request card to apply for duplicates. Give the completed card, with some identification (like a credit card or driver's license), to the information counter clerk. The clerk will certify and send it off for you. You'll get your duplicate slip in time to file your tax return.

Phone or write your local Canada Employment Centre (Unemployment Insurance or Manpower Services). Ask them to send you a request card to apply for a duplicate. Complete the card and mail it to the address on it, along with a photocopy of identification (something with your name, like a credit card or driver's license). Please don't send original identification documents. You'll get a duplicate in the mail in time for filing your tax return.

If the slip has arrived...

If you did get a T4U but need a replacement for any reason, use the request card as described above.

If the slip has arrived but you need more information...

If you did get a T4U and still need an itemized statement, use the request card as described above. However, in this case, send identification only if your address now is different from the one on your T4U.

The Canadian Human Rights Act requires us to restrict access to personal information about you. This is why we must ask you for identification.

The Skeptics Tank

By Vicky Knight

"The work of art may have a moral effect, but to demand moral purpose from the artist is to make him ruin his work." Johann Wolfgang von Goethe

"When I hear anyone talk of culture I reach for my revolver." Hermann Goering

"Now, who shall arbitrate, Ten men love what I hate, Shun what I follow, slight what I receive."

Robert Browning
"Anyone who sees and paints a sky green and pastures blue ought to be sterilized." Adolph Hitler

In the above quotations, Browning and Goethe point out the folly and dangers of censorship. Juxtaposed with these perceptions are the spewings of Hitler and Goering, vividly illustrating the depths to which censorship can plunge us. The examples may seem extreme, but the voices raised against censorship must be strident or the Babbitts will carry the day.

Should Canadians be worried about this? You bet your old copy of Lady Chatterly they should! We've already witnessed the trend to oppressive legislation in the successful suing of cartoonists. Now, a legislative as well as a judicial menace looms, which has ominous implications for the arts.

Bill C-21, already drafted for consideration by Parliament, has several disturbing aspects. It would broaden the definition of obscenity to include violence, degradation, crime and horror. Worse still, it would transfer authority to regulate pornography to provincial attorneys-general and other local authorities.

Ye gods! The implications of the obscenity clause are so broad as to be laughable, if they weren't so frightening. Using violence and horror as a definition of obscenity, we could go on a wild banning binge — The Bible, the evening news, "Holocaust," "Roots" and just about every drama to march across the 24" screen would be vulnerable. Shakespeare would be blue — pencilled to pieces and Sherlock Holmes would have to hang up his deerstalker. Little Red Riding Hood would be forced to turn in her basket of goodies and all major league hockey teams would be benched for good. The works of Bram Stoker and Mary Shelley would be purged of monsters, and Dracula minus vampires is a bloodless prospect. Obviously, the Bill's obscenity definition is a bigger obscenity in itself than the sins which it tries to curtail.

Then we have the local authorities clause. The U.S. has such local controls and the results there are chaotic. With such a system, there are as many definitions of obscenity as there are towns. The arts in Edmonton for instance, would be in real trouble. Mayor Purves would put loin cloths on nude artworks and Ald. Leger would stand at the city limits to bar Alice Cooper. He would also ensure that actors kept their pants on while on stage. (Remember La Ronde?) And Edmonton would be only one of many cultural districts, each with its own righteous regulations. A university could wind up in the embarrassing position of being prohibited from reading the classics, because of the moral strictures of the town in which it is located. Its degree would be worthless in no time.

The folly of this kind of law has already been proven. Are its authors unaware that an Ontario board banned the books of Margaret Lawrence and W.O. Mitchell? Meanwhile, an Edmonton trustee devotes his time to counting profanities in "Catcher in the Rye." The Sunday Schools had better keep a weather eye on their Bibles. The Songs of Solomon are pretty racy and what about all that begatting in Genesis?

If we aren't vigilant, we'll end up with a situation like the one south of the border. The scenario might go like this: Linda Lovelose, a fictitious actress, appears in a movie of ill repute, entitled "Cheap Gloat." It plays all around the country, including the hamlet of Hayseed, Sask., pop. 802. Now Ms. Lovelose has never been anywhere near Hayseed, and probably prefers it that way. However, the good citizens, having scrutinized the flick avidly from opening line to closing credits, have deemed it obscene. An invitation in the form of a summons is extended to Ms. Lovelose to attend at the Hayseed municipal court on a charge of corrupting the city fathers or some such nonsense. The defendant is a dead pigeon before she's even sworn in. The jury or judge perceives her as a cross between Lucrezia Borgia and Lizzie Borden, and as a citified outsider, she stands about as much chance as would a resident of Sodom or Gomorrah.

Unfortunately for the defendant, it is impossible for her to avoid her transgressions. She has no way of knowing the peculiarities of Hayseed's rigid moral code and with a few thousand such variations, ignorance of the law becomes a valid defence. Lovelose gives up the fight and forks over a fine large enough to keep the Hayseed Library of Lustless Literature in Harlequin romances for ten years. The villainess beats a hasty retreat to her Toronto home, only to find there yet another summons to appear before the folk of Upright, Manitoba. At this rate, she'll be in court for the rest of her natural life.

Bill C-21 is an abomination that would see Canada culturally Balkanized and the laughingstock of the civilized world. It should be turfed in the garbage and its authors forced to spend a month in the company of Eddie Keen and/or Anita Bryant. The federal government obviously wants to get rid of a hot potato like censorship. This is no way to go about it.

SCHOOL Gazette

Voice of V.J.M.

By Cheryl Carlou

Hello once again from V.J.M. On February 14 the Students' Council organized King of Hearts Day. All the girls of the school were given a heart to wear, and in order for a boy to become king he did good deeds to win the hearts from the girls (examples: carry her books from class to class, open doors, say complimentary things to her, etc.). The day was a great success. Rick Gray was crowned The King of Hearts. Good effort Rick!

Later that month our new T-shirts were sold to the student body. Proceeds from the shirts go to both teams to aid in the purchase of equipment for the school gymnasium.

The student body was asked to sell tickets for the St. Albert Summer Games. Sales are going quite well.

On February 28 Heather Lavoy and Chris Powers organized a Pep Rally for the senior boys and girls basketball teams. With spirits thus heightened for the league finals both teams triumphed over Lorne Akins at W.D. Cuts. Congratulations to all!!

Report cards were given out on February 3 and parent-teacher interviews followed on February 6 and 7. The students had a day off due to the parent-teacher interviews on February 7.

The alumni basketball game was held Friday, March 16. Both teams were defeated. The girls game was really close. They lost 33-36 after six minutes overtime. Consistent effort was shown by both teams.

On March 17 our senior basketball teams were invited to two different tournaments. The boys team went to the O'Leary Composite High tournament and they came in second overall. Our girls went to the Sherwood Heights tournament, where they were defeated by Sherwood Heights in triple overtime. They placed second overall. Congratulations to all the teams for the consistent effort they have shown throughout the basketball year.

Special events to keep in mind: There will be a T-Shirt day March 23. Possibly a sock-hop. Share Lent Starvation April 11, 1979. Share Lent Talent Show, Thursday, April 12. A Nickel Line-up near the end of April, (proceeds to the Students' Union). Year end grad exercises Wednesday, June 27.

Bye for now!!

Mayor Ron Harvey was invited to tell the grade two students at Leo Nickerson School what the mayor's job was all about. The question period was filled with questions on what would happen if their house or city hall burned down. Before becoming mayor, Mr. Harvey was in the insurance business for quite a number of years and knew the answer. "It's up to the owners to provide insurance."

Camping anyone? - If you are not heading to the slopes or the Sunny South - don't let your Spring Break drag by. A group, with room open for you, is leaving at 4 p.m. on Friday, March 23 and returning March 26. The trip will involve a back-packing excursion from Skeleton Lake to Hope Lake. The price is right - only $4.00 and bring your own food. Give Lynn or Shawn a call by Thursday at the very latest 459-6601.

Don't forget about roller skating this Wednesday evening. There are a few tickets left - cost is $4 including transportation, admission and skate rental. The bus leaves the Teen Center at 5 p.m. and returns around 9 p.m.

This week "Operation Enterprise" follows up last Wednesday's discussion with teacher, Mr. Morrison, concerning discipline in the schools.

Tonight at 9:00 a group of teens from Junior and Senior High Schools give their side of the story. In the continuing story of "Suds" we see the long awaited return of Angela Symthe, the upperclass socialite of Alberta Cane High School who suffered a slight "accident" at the hands of Kitty. Be sure to tune in tonight on Cable Five. "The Raven" is coming! Watch for it - Friday, March 30.

Monkey-eating eagle tailed in Philippines

By Barbara S. Moffet
National Geographic News
After weeks of stalking the monkey-eating eagle through the dense forests of the Philippines, a group of American scientists finally found the rare bird. In fact, they think they might have found 500 of them.

They also discovered that the monkey-eating eagle isn't that wild about monkeys. The blue-eyed, white-crested bird seems to prefer dining on flying lemurs, animals that resemble flying squirrels.

Even though the eagle population apparently is in the hundreds, the bird still faces the threat of extinction.

says Dr. Robert S. Kennedy, an expedition member.

EAGLE RECHRISTENED

So the bird's name recently was changed to Philippine eagle, the first step in an effort to have it declared the country's national bird. The new name will draw attention to the eagle, which was discovered in 1896 on the Philippine island of Samar but ignored for years.

"We view the eagle as a symbol," Kennedy said. "If we can help the eagle, we will preserve other Philippine wildlife."

One of the rarest eagles in the world, the monkey-eating eagle was believed extinct on Samar, but the group now thinks the island has a sizable population. More eagles were found on three of the other islands, especially Mindanao. But despite these discoveries, the bird remains in danger.

Native only to the Philippines, the eagle builds its huge nest -- five by eight feet in size -- high in the trees of mountain ranges. In the last 30 years it has lost nesting ground to extensive logging and clearing of forest for agriculture. The eagles also have been killed by trophy hunters.

Hoping to educate Filipinos about the bird's plight, the scientists are observing and counting the eagles and filming their behavior on a grant from the National Geographic Society. Photographers are perching in treehouses, recording days in the lives of the monkey-eating eagle. The scientists also have attached a radio transmitter to the tail of a juvenile eagle to track its behavior patterns. "We know where he is 24 hours a day," Kennedy said.

BREEDING IN CAPTIVITY

To help ensure the species' survival, Kennedy and a colleague, Ronald Krupa, have begun a captive breeding and release program. They plan to use such techniques as artificial insemination to breed the birds where they are safe from man's encroachment.

The scientists also are working with President Ferdinand Marcos to curb the destruction of the eagles' habitat by loggers and farmers.

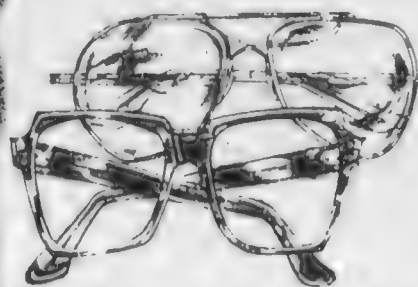

The second largest eagle in the world, the monkey-eating eagle has a wing span of about seven feet and weighs up to 15 pounds. It has chocolate brown and white feathers and an extremely narrow, curved beak. Its most unusual feature, says Kennedy, is its "moppy crest," a bonnet of feathers that rise when the bird is provoked.

After it was first discovered, the eagle was practically forgotten until a scientist began studying it in the 1960s. It then caught the eye of Charles A. Lindbergh, who helped set up a program to preserve the species.

PIERCING EYES

A narrow, curved beak, and a bonnet of slender feathers make the monkey-eating eagle of the Philippines a distinctive looking bird. A group of American researchers have found that 300 to 500 eagles -- also called the Philippine eagle -- may live on the islands, despite forces that have wiped out much of the species.

New books at the Library

By Chris Neys
MY CHILDREN* MY CHILDREN* by Robert Reid (618.92)

"My Children, My Children" is the harrowing story of the battle against a terrible birth defect. Spina Bifida-divided spine is the second most common congenital disease. It kills 200 children a year in the U.S. alone; one of every ten Americans suffers from a mild form. The questions, which thousands of parents and doctors face each year, are at the heart of the dilemmas of modern medicine: abortion, eugenics, euthanasia. They make "My Children, My Children" a book of moral urgency as well as of medical wizardry—a gripping tale of real drama, real pain and real hope.

THE DEVELOPERS, by

James Lorimer (333.38) "The Developers" are among Canada's richest, most dynamic and controversial businessmen. Since the second world war, land development has grown from virtually nothing to a multi-billion dollar industry. Several hundred developers have become millionaires in the process and a few have made fortunes in the tens and hundreds of millions, and with the help of three researchers, author James Lorimer gathered information from every Canadian city. He brings a varied background in writing, city politics, business and economics to his new book about Canada's land developers.

In "The Developers" you will meet: Robert Campeau, Ottawa's pre-eminent developer, the mysterious European shareholder's behind Genstar Ltd., and the winning combination of Montreal's Bronfman Family, E.P. Taylor's land development company and Toronto's high-life apartment entrepreneurs that created Cadillac Fairview, currently the biggest development corporation in Canada.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR OWN LIFE, by Erica Jong

"How To Save Your Own Life" picks up Isadora's story three years after the events of Fear of Flying. It deals with the gradual stages by which a marriage comes apart, the problems of betrayal, jealousy, trust. But the book is also about fame, Hollywood and sexual experimentation.

Open house party for 75th birthday

Cromdale Campus of Grant MacEwan Community College will be hosting an open house April 1 from 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. It will demonstrate to the public what a community college is all about and what it does for business, employers and the community.

Displays, classrooms activities and material from Advertising/Public Relations Audiovisual, Journalism, Library Technician, Teachers' Aide will be featured. Students and staff will be on hand to explain how each program prepares graduates for employment.

Continuing Education Division will also provide information in its Adult Development, Residential Aide and Consumer Education programs.

The open house will begin at noon with a free pancake brunch sponsored by the Cromdale Students' Association. At 2 p.m. Fred Windwick, chairman of the Edmonton 75th Birthday Committee will officiate at a cake cutting ceremony with John Haar, president of Grant MacEwan Community College and Laura Kilgour, chairman of the College's Board of Governors.

Birthday cake, refreshments, music and door prizes will be part of the festivities. Day care will be provided for children, three to six years, by the Teachers' Aide Program.

Cromdale is located at 8020 - 118 Avenue. For more information contact Judi Chambers, Grant MacEwan Community College, 484-8521.

Well done Biff

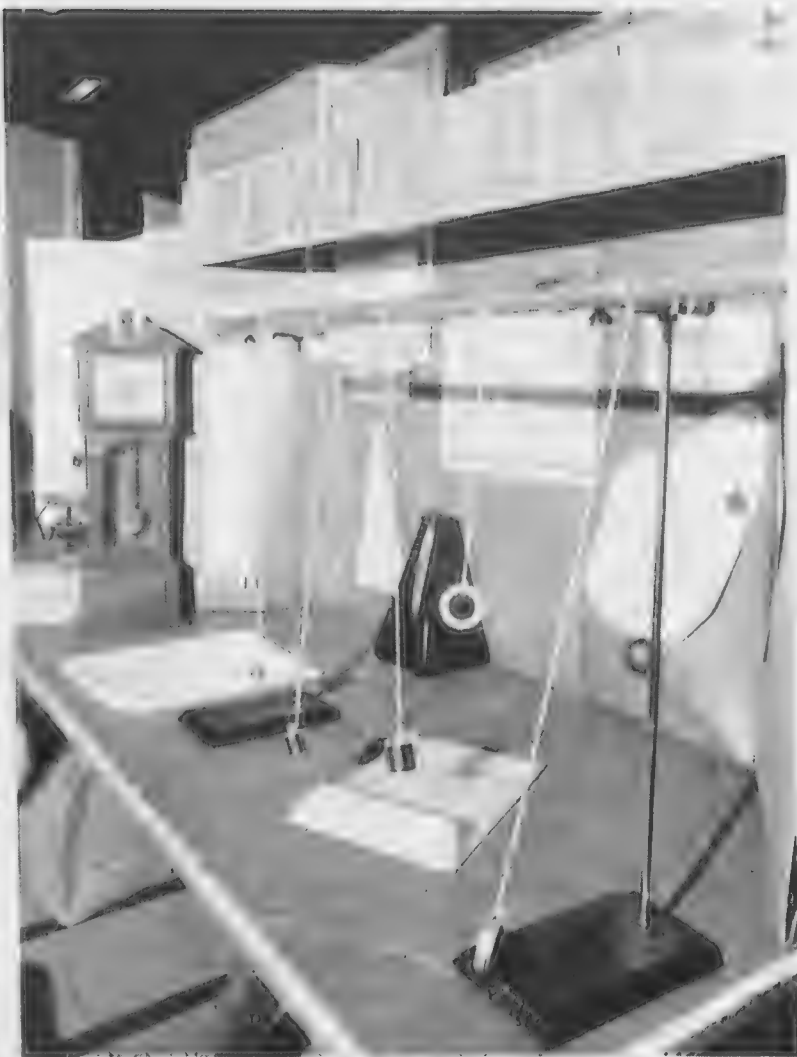

Biff Jones, grade five student at Robert Rundle Elementary school in St. Albert, is one of those kinds of people that make things happen.

A couple of months ago, a few grade five students expressed concern of the kind of language that was being used out on the playground. According to teacher Bev Crook, they felt that "the Junior High influence was not a positive one, and that too many elementary students were thinking foul language was the "cool" way to talk."

A student committee decided they would like to do something and a No Swearing Campaign was started by Biff Jones. The committee talked over their ideas with their teachers, spoke in the classrooms, made posters, and worked out a system of rewarding "clean talkers."

The campaign is now over, but we hope its effect are not, commented Miss Crook in thanking Biff and the Committee.

Well done Biff Jones. You made a move against a form of violence dangerous to the society in which you live. Foul language degrades the user, and it subtracts from the dignity of the person at whom it is hurled. There is no love in it.

The Year of the Child at Lorne Akins

Part of Education Week at Lorne Akins was devoted to an essay and poetry contest based on the theme "The Year of the Child." Students in Grade 7 were asked to write a poem on this theme; students in Grade 8, a poem or essay; and, students in Grade 9, an essay.

Mr. John Bauman, principal of Lorne Akins was delegated the very difficult job of selecting the overall winners. The following essays and poem represent the overall winners of Education Week '79.

WHAT IS THE FUTURE OF THE CHILD?

The child is the father of man. He represents the next generation, the continual hope for a better breed of mankind. He will be the future leader, directing us to a Utopia, or a complete annihilation of our race.

In the form of a simile, children are like unprogrammed computers. They are what society makes of them. If a child is programmed with the wrong information, he will be a menace to society. Then in turn, he will wrongly lead his children completing the vicious circle.

In the past, children in the act of supporting their families, have been forced to work, instead of being educated. Children used to be their parents "pension" insurance for later life. Today, in Canada, the child is more independent, outgoing, and selfish. He wants everything, and will return nothing. His parents, feeling guilty, will continue fueling this fire by giving them more and more unnecessary luxuries. If the children of developing countries obtain only a small percentage of what we have their chances for survival will improve immensely. For example, each year 100,000 children go blind simply by a lack of Vitamin A, available in green vegetables. The lack of nutrition, education, and other social services continues to expand the vicious circle of the underdeveloped countries. Clearly, much needs to be done.

The future - over the rough times it looks bleak, over the smooth - exciting, worthwhile and 'universal'. For the children of the advanced countries, the future holds many opportunities and special education. There is no question for these fortunate children.

It is in the countries of the poor where the impending changes will have their greatest effect. The immediate future promises nothing but hope, and where there is hope, life continues. The first step in breaking the poverty circle is education. It will require educating one billion children, a lengthy process, and consuming a large sum of money.

Sanitation services will improve thus reducing the death rate. Safe water and nutritional food will be available, improving undernourished children's lives. Medical care and love will "program" the children to live under peace and universal brotherhood. UNICEF with the help of the advanced countries, will bring opportunities and hope for these deprived children.

The United Nation's Rights of the Child will finally come to them. 1979, the International Year of the Child, is just the beginning.

Hemi Thaker
Grade 9

YEAR OF THE CHILD

This year of 1979 has been proclaimed International Year of the Child.

We, in Canada with our high standard of living, perhaps find it hard to believe there are deprived children. Are YOU living on a Reserve, in a shack, without adequate clothing, food and warmth? Do you know of someone who is abused by 'loving' parents who are actually sick? It's happening right here! Thousands of children die each year of neglect and abuse, and there are cases unaccounted for. Is there such a thing as a happy, healthy child anymore, or is that a saying of the past? Child abuse increases with generations - children are beaten and they in turn beat their children; and the cycle continues. But help is on the way.

Over the years the Foster Parents Plan, Unitarian Service Committee and other social organizations have sought financial help to assist others. They have alleviated some of the distress children experience but there is so much more to do. We can't all volunteer for work overseas, at home in the slums or wherever there is a need. However, we can watch for more information on this Year of the Child to see if there may be projects in which we can become involved. ACTION SPEAKS Innocent nucleus of the human race.

Am I a child?

I often feel energetic and wild.

I am sometimes courageous and quite often daring.

I have feelings of loving and feelings of caring.

Trying to earn a place in this life.

A life often filled with trouble and strife.

I can't always handle what comes my way.

IYC: Canadians shouldn't be complacent

The following article appeared in the March 12 issue of 'the ATA news'. It presents some startling statistics on child neglect that most of us leading affluent lives as Albertans should keep in mind.

Dr. Earle Snider, urban sociologist at The University of Alberta, gave a large audience at the Greater Edmonton convention a startling and often unpleasant look at the world of children in this year of the child.

He stated that of the 1.51 billion children in the world today, a large percentage are in the developing countries. Two out of every 12 will die as babies, five will be illiterate, and of the five who go to school, only two will finish their elementary education.

He went on to say that Canadians should not be complacent, since 1.5 million children live in poverty in Canada. In Alberta there are 5,000 cases of juvenile neglect per year, and in inner-city schools many children show symptoms of neglect and malnutrition.

Teachers cannot walk away from these problems, Dr. Snider continued, since these children spend most of their waking hours at school. Bad home situations are reflected in the children's behavior at school, he said.

Dr. Snider had three suggestions for teachers. First, teachers should become active in their communities and should communicate with the parents. Teachers should make the public aware of the problems at school, and try to change the public image of teachers.

Second, stress clinics should be established so teachers can learn how to handle the increasingly stressful situations at school, he said.

Third, teachers can work collectively to develop policy, he suggested. 'Don't wait to be asked, or read it in the paper, he said. 'Formulate policy and give it to the people who are making decisions for our youth. Be the movers and the doers.'

SPRING BIRD FESTIVAL

As the children are out of school next week, the Department is offering the Second Annual Spring Bird Festival.

On Monday the children will create a costume; Tuesday, they design a stage; Wednesday they will go on a hike at the John Janzen Nature Centre in Edmonton; Thursday, there will be the movie "Benji" and Friday they may show off their costumes on T.V.

The program will be offered at three locations, Akinsdale Clubhouse, Grandin Clubhouse, or the Kinsmen Centennial Centre at 145 Larose Drive, from 1 - 4 p.m. daily. Pre-registration is required. Please call at 459-6601 for further details.

Volunteers will be needed to drive the children from the clubhouses to the Legion and back on Friday afternoon. If able to help out, please leave name and number at the Community Services Department.

Working for Alberta's children

From the Jan./Feb. issue of "Early Childhood Services" Program Highlights Newsletter.

This is the International Year of the Child - by United Nations proclamation - and Alberta groups have come up with a number of imaginative proposals to mark the occasion.

Final decision on projects slated to receive financial support from a $100,000 fund set up by the provincial government will be made in late January by a 12-member committee. The group, headed by Dr. Audrey Griffiths, a Leduc pediatrician, has a limit of $2,000 to fund any single project.

"This is seed-money," says Dr. Griffiths, "to help people get started and encourage them, if they have a good idea and no means of publicizing it." The projects approved in January will use only a portion of the IYC funds. Deadline for the second set of application is the end of April.

What kind of local projects may be expected in Alberta during 1979?

One group wants to finance performances of one-act plays dealing with problems of children or families. It's called "Stop-action Theatre" and the audience helps solve problems presented on the stage.

Another group hopes to increase the amount of library material dealing with life, health, education and development of children.

If the project of a Calgary women's organization is approved, an entire issue of the organization's "newspaper" will be devoted to IYC. Copies of the publication will be distributed free to the group's members. Their plans also include involving children in various phases of the paper's production.

Other suggested projects include:

- *a toy-lending library;
- *discussions about life in the early days with elders brought into a Native-Metis school;

- *television programs that deal with children and in which children participate.

Some of the IYC projects may turn out to be simply fun events. Dr. Griffiths expects proposals for picnics and trips to the zoo.

"Overall, the goal for IYC programs," says Dr. Griffiths "is the betterment of the status of children."

If the year "just runs through and that's the end of it," the chairman will consider it very much a waste.

"I hope there will be lasting results," says Dr. Griffiths.

For information on IYC program assistance, contact Dr. Audrey Griffiths, Alberta IYC Committee, Box 1247, Leduc, Alberta, Telephone: (403) 986-3330.

If you are a member of an IYC committee working on a project or know about one in your area, drop ECS Program Highlights a line starting your committee's name, location and contact person. We can then publish a list of projects and contacts for your benefit.

Conference on the social service needs of Ukrainians

Alderman William Chmiliar, provincial MLA William Diachuk and a whole host of other speakers, including psychiatrists, lawyers, psychologists, social workers and university professors, will be participating in a conference on the social service needs of Ukrainians in Edmonton which will take place at St. John's Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Cathedral auditorium on Sunday, April 1, from 1:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The conference, which is being organized by the Ukrainian Canadian Social Services (Edmonton), has been organized to publicize and gain support for the activities of the agency in providing services to people in need. Some of the workshops at the conference will address topics such as: contemporary Ukrainian family problems, meeting your new Ukrainian neighbour - immigrant, Ukrainians facing legal problems, and what is in store for you as a senior Ukrainian citizen in Edmonton.

Further information concerning the conference can be obtained from the Ukrainian Canadian Social Services (Edmonton) who can be contacted daily between 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. at 429-1258.

Faculty of Dentistry requires young patients

Mannequins and technique teeth are fine up to a point but third and fourth year students in the University of Alberta's Faculty of Dentistry now have need of the genuine article.

The students have progressed to the clinical treatment part of their professional training and patients are required in order that the training can be fully realized.

Parents of children between the ages of 4 and 12 are invited to contact the faculty's department of dental clinical sciences, telephone 432-4448, and make arrangements to have their children's teeth examined. Should dental work be necessary, the students, working under supervision, can perform all aspects of treatment and recommend proper methods of care.

Dr. William Simpson, chairman of the department, says that while fees are minimal, patients will likely have to spend a substantial amount of time in the faculty because of the detailed learning process undertaken by the students.

Many young patients have been treated in past years but Dr. Simpson says the combination of fluoridation and various dental plans has reduced the number of patients who take advantage of the faculty's expertise and facilities.

He says that children with dental problems can receive treatment in the faculty until April 30.

Patterns, alterations and adaptations of ready-made clothing for the handicapped are gaining attention as the number of chronically disabled persons in our society grows.

The U of A Press recently released the results of five years of research in this area done by Dr. Anne Kernaeguen, head of the clothing and textiles division in the university's Faculty of Home Economics.

Clothing Designs for the Handicapped is a 271-page book which contains an abundance of information for counsellors, occupational therapists, public health nurses, clothing designers, families of handicapped individuals and the handicapped themselves.

The object of the book is to provide ideas for functional

IF ONLY I HAD THE TIME

... if only I had the time! Have you ever caught yourself saying that? There seems to be so many things to do, and so little time to do them in. Just a few more hours in the day -- that would solve all your problems. Or would it?

Some of us gyrate around and never seem to get anything done. Others placidly go about accomplishing miracles. The secret seems to lie in the ability to arrange efficiently the 24 hours in each day and the 60 minutes in each hour. The following quiz can help you determine whether or not you make the best use of your time:

1. Do you live by a fairly well set schedule for rising, eating, going to bed, etc.?
2. Do you have a place for keeping records, papers and documents?
3. Do you find you have enough time leftover in your day for just personal time?
4. Do you tackle your work in the order of importance?
5. Do you make lists of things to do, purchases to make?
6. Are you often overcome by the feeling of panic because you think you have more to do than time to do it?

7. Do you set aside some time each day to plan your next day's activities?

8. Are you flexible enough to allow for any delays or interruptions that alter your day's schedule?

9. Are you usually punctual for appointments, work, etc.?

10. Do you often delegate tasks to family members?

You should have answered "yes" to all questions except #6. If you answered all questions correctly -- congratulations. You are in control of your time. If you answered any question incorrectly, then you can improve your management of time. To help you realize ways to better use your time contact the Alberta Agriculture office and ask for the publication "... if only I had the time."

New book explores fashions for Handicapped clothing that will combine smart appearance with comfort.

All of the fashions are designed to give people independence in dressing and confidence in their movements and appearance, says Dr. Kernaeguen. She hopes the book will be a starting point for ideas on individual fashions.

Writing primarily for those who sew at home, Dr. Kernaeguen makes liberal use of illustrations and easy to follow instructions. Tips on choice of styles and textures with emphasis on fashion appeal and comfort are included in the volume.

Use of zippers, adjustable closures, wrap-around styling, and simple alterations can create long-wearing wardrobes. Detailed information on adaptation of ready-made items has been included to help reduce the cost of otherwise specially made garments. For many, this means an increased choice of styles, colors and fabrics.

The book has designs for: persons with limited finger dexterity and arm movement; those using crutches; wearers of braces or casts; women who have had mastectomies; the chairbound; the elderly; the obese; the incontinent; and the blind. Among the designs are a number pertaining to sportswear, evening wear, and every day garments for men and women.

Copies of Dr. Kernaeguen's book are available in many lending libraries. The book is also on sale at the U of A Bookstore. As well, copies can be ordered by individuals or groups by writing the University of Alberta Press, 450 Athabasca Hall, Edmonton, T6G 2E8. The cost of the volume is $15.

Grant makes kidney library possible

Your Kidneys, Their Care and Their Cure, a Modern Miracle of Medicine written by Sheldon Glabman is one of the books in the new Kidney Foundation Library. The library, made possible through a generous donation from Xerox of Canada, contains books describing kidney disease and its treatment. There is a wealth of reference material for the dialysis consumer, his family and friends to read.

The library is located in the Edmonton Chapter office, Mewburn Pavilion (U of A Hospital) and books will be loaned to members for a two-week period. Phone 439-1303 for more information, or drop in Monday, Wednesday or Thursday a.m.

Memberships in the Kidney Foundation may be purchased at the Edmonton Chapter office.

Focus on convenience foods

Consumers are buying more and more convenience foods and each year the variety of convenience foods available also increases. Advances in food technology have resulted in a wide variety of hurry-up foods -- from instant breakfasts to boil-in-a-bag meals.

Convenience foods are popular because they are quick and easy, and don't dirty many dishes. They are also popular because good results are almost always certain.

The trend towards convenience foods and changing consumer attitudes can be seen in the example of the cake mix. When cake mixes first came on the market, many people scoffed at them. Often those who did use them hid the tell-tale package from the sight of family and friends. But now, cake mixes are very common and the homemaker who uses an at-home recipe is the exception, rather than the rule. Similarly, the use of other convenience foods is widely accepted.

For most people, a convenience food is one in which a considerable amount of the time and labour in preparing the food has been shifted to the food processor, so the consumer doesn't have as much work to do. The cooking, squeezing, cutting or peeling was done before the food got to the supermarket.

While most consumers believe convenience foods are more costly than the home-made equivalents, this is not always the case. Cost comparisons of some products may be surprising. Instant mashed potatoes are often cheaper than the home-made ones. Instant scalloped potatoes, on the other hand, will be considerably more expensive than if they were made at home. While most cake mixes will cost more than a home-made cake, an angel food cake mix will almost always be cheaper. Biscuit mixes and store-bought bread are usually more expensive.

Convenience foods are sometimes cheaper because of the economic advantages of mass production, a better distribution system, and reduced waste through spoilage. Convenience foods tend to increase in price, the closer they are to being ready to eat. Their price also increases with the number of ingredients.

Simple price comparisons between convenience foods and the equivalent home-made ones are not meaningful, however, unless they consider nutrition, quality and taste. While there is no reason why convenience foods should provide less nutrition, they may be less nutritious overall simply because the commercially prepared food may have smaller quantities of the more expensive ingredients, such as meat, vegetables, and fruit.

For example, the price of a frozen pizza and one made at home can't really be compared if the home-made one contains twice as much cheese (a good source of protein) and has a better taste.

An overlooked cost in many convenience foods is the cost of those ingredients that must still be added by the consumer before the food is ready to eat. Common additions, such as milk, eggs, or butter can increase the cost of a convenience food a great deal. If the food also requires a long cooking time, the energy cost must also be taken into account.

Consumers who buy convenience foods to save time should make sure they really do save time. Read the label to see how much work must still be done at home. Pancake and biscuit mixes are sometimes almost as time consuming as at-home recipes.

The labels on convenience foods will also give a complete breakdown of the content and in some cases will indicate the shelf-life of the food. So it is important to read them. Federal labelling regulations require that all ingredients must be listed on the label in descending order of their proportion. A label that reads "sugar, water, eggs" has sugar as its main ingredient, then water, and finally eggs.

Convenience foods with a shelf life of less than 90 days (such as some biscuit and cookie dough) will also have a "best before" date on the label. This is the date after which the food is no longer at its peak of quality.

Remember when you are deciding whether to buy convenience foods that in many cases what you do yourself might save money. Have you tried to make your own convenience foods? The simplest way is still to use carefully refrigerated leftovers in another way.

Courses offered for nurses,

RNA's

Grant MacEwan Community College's Continuing Education Division and the Health Sciences Department are offering several courses for registered nurses and registered nursing assistants.

Using a lecture/discussion and small group/case study approach, Nursing Management of Pain allows participants to explore the concept of pain. Topics in this one-day workshop include a review of the physical and psychological aspects of pain.

The Nursing Refresher course is designed to prepare previously registered graduate nurses to reactivate their registration. Clinical experience in acute hospital settings and upgrading in nursing theory and practice are provided. This six week course may be extended up to two additional weeks to meet individual student's needs.

The objective of Pediatrics for Foreign Nurses is to assist graduate nurses educated outside of the North American culture to function effectively in the Canadian pediatric setting. Discussion of the trends in pediatric nursing and a comparison of growth and development of children in the Eastern and Western worlds will be covered in this one-day course.

A two-day workshop specifically designed for registered nursing assistants, Solving Problems in Interpersonal Relationships, will provide opportunities for participants to assess and develop their own interpersonal skills.

Focusing on dealing effectively with family members of the elderly is the primary objective of a one-day workshop, Working with Family and Friends of the Elderly.

The College is also prepared to offer self-study courses, Nursing Specialty, to a limited number of graduate nurses requiring a remedial course in medical nursing to qualify for registration.

For further information contact the Registrar's Office, Grant MacEwan Community College, Assumption Campus, Box 1796, Edmonton, TSJ 2P2, Phone 429-2503.

CHIP - home energy conservation

Energy consumption is everybody's business. In order to reduce the rate of energy consumption, the Federal Government of Canada has established a national home assistance program called the Canadian Home Insulation Program. CHIP, as it is known, is designed to encourage Canadians to adequately insulate their homes, thereby conserving non-renewable energy resources by providing an owner, tenant or landlord with a financial incentive to purchase insulation materials. The program has been in effect from September 1, 1977 and is expected to run through to December 31, 1984. Implementation across Canada is on a step-by-step basis beginning with older dwellings that are typically the most poorly insulated, so that by 1984, all units constructed prior to September 1, 1977 will be eligible for a grant. Units constructed after September 1, 1977 will not be eligible as they have usually been constructed to higher insulation standards. At present in Alberta, all homes constructed prior to 1946, are eligible to apply for a CHIP program grant. These grants are retroactive to September 1, 1977. In Alberta, it is estimated the eligible housing stock built prior to 1946 is 120,800.

The Canadian Home Insulation Program provides non-repayable, taxable grants of up to two-thirds of the cost of CMHC accepted insulation materials purchased and used in attics, ceilings, walls, basement walls and floors over unheated space in principal residences up to a maximum amount of $350 per unit. A brief summation of the maximum amount of grant as it applies to various housing units is set out as follows:

$150 for units in apartment buildings of three storeys or less which have more than six units.

$70 per bedroom for hostel accommodations provided the accommodation is owned and managed by a non-profit corporation or a department or agency of federal, provincial or municipal governments.

Return of the blanket box

The return to home-made quilts and comforters has sparked a corresponding interest in old fashioned blanket boxes and these have been steadily rising in value in the collectibles market, some currently bringing from $600 to $850.

Early immigrants to North America brought blanket boxes with them, basically a box with a flat hinged top. They were often painted and then decorated with stenciled motifs, such as flowers, and there is a wide range of different and appealing boxes.

Modern collectors use them in hallways, family rooms and even living rooms, as well as bedrooms, and retain their original use for storing bedding.

Canadian boxes were often made of pine and modern

"do it yourself books and articles" will sometimes include patterns for old-fashioned blanket boxes.

As time passed these storage boxes were replaced with chests of drawers, high-boys and low-boys, but it appears the original boxes are making a comeback.

Poisonous plants a danger to pets

Accidental poisoning in the home can be a hazard for pet owners, as well as for parents.

Many household products, cleaners and medicines, should be made inaccessible to pets as well as children. Your dog or cat usually can't open cupboards and drawers but it can often gain access to chemicals stored in basements and garages. Pets also can be attracted to potentially dangerous items such as household and garden plants.

Pet owners should be aware of the nearly 60 varieties of ornamental plants considered poisonous. Toxic plants include hyacinth, narcissus, daffodil, larkspur, oleander, lily of the valley, autumn crocus, iris, laurel, foxglove, philodendron, Dieffenbachia (dumb cane), mistletoe and English ivy.

A hanging plant is an attraction for a playful pet and sometimes a cat or puppy will chew on one out of curiosity. Parents should also be aware that babies and young children during play may also put plant leaves into their mouths.

Lawns, trees and shrubs that have been sprayed or dusted with toxicants can be very dangerous areas for cats and dogs to wander through. Chemicals that are picked up on the pet's feet or hair can later be licked off.

In the home, there is a wide variety of substances that contain poisonous chemicals that may injure your dog or cat, and that should also be kept away from children. These include lead paints, soaps, anti-freeze (ethylene alcohol), alkalines found in cleaning preparations, drain cleaners, and medicines and tonics intended for human consumption.

The use of ant traps and poison baits for rodents in the home or yard should be carefully controlled so that dogs and cats do not eat or play with these poisons. Indirect poisoning may also occur when pets eat the remains of rodents or birds that have been chemically poisoned.

Some of the common symptoms occurring in dogs and cats that have been poisoned include vomiting, muscular twitching, weakness, abdominal pain and convulsions. Certain of these same symptoms also appear in pet diseases such as feline distemper, tetanus, or a severe case of worms.

To guard against accidental poisoning, spend some extra time monitoring your pet's activities. Know where your dog or cat is and what it's doing. Never allow pets to run loose, particularly at night.

Keep all poisons and chemicals out of reach. Discarded bottles and cans should be placed in tightly sealed garbage containers.

If you suspect your pet has been poisoned, act quickly and contact a veterinarian. Give as much detail about the situation as possible and provide a sample of the poisonous source, if available. Try to keep your pet warm and observe the animal's actions so that you can provide further information to the veterinarian when you reach his office.

Can Canada really export 1¼ billion bushels of grain a year by 1985?

Here's what's being done to get your grain moving faster.

Here's what's still needed.

Rehabilitation of the Preeceville subdivision

This year and last year Canada exported 20 million tonnes of grain. By 1985 the Canadian Wheat Board believes Canada needs to export 30 million tonnes—or 1¼ billion bushels. That 1¼ billion bushels of grain is 50 per cent more than the record levels we've been exporting.

Increases that big don't come easy. Can we do it?

There are three concerns: Can farmers grow 1¼ billion bushels? Can the Canadian Wheat Board sell that much? Can our grain handling system get that much grain from the farms to the ships?

The answer to the first two questions is yes. Given quotas to deliver 1¼ billion bushels, prairie farmers will grow it. The Canadian Wheat Board has repeatedly promised that markets of the world are ready to buy as much as we can ship.

The big problem is getting the grain from country elevators to the ships. Right now we don't always get the grain onto ocean vessels in time. Our rail system just isn't good enough, and we need more terminal facilities to serve the growing West Coast markets.

Everyone agrees that rails and West Coast terminal space are the main stumbling blocks to exporting 1¼ billion bushels of grain. After the Prairie Premiers and the Minister Responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board met in Winnipeg in January, they agreed we must form a task force to help Canada reach that target. That target is now just over the horizon because most of the work has been done or is underway.

Problems affect each other

Grain handling companies don't spend money fixing elevators on rail lines that might be abandoned. Railways won't spend money rebuilding or upgrading lines—or buying hopper cars—if they lose money hauling grain.

Much of our branchline rail system needs upgrading so long trains of hopper cars can move fast and safely. It is only through straining the present system to the utmost that we are able to move the record quantities of grain we are moving.

The Government of Canada has put in place a permanent rail network which serves over 90 per cent of the prairie farmers. This means elevators on those lines are guaranteed to be served by rail into the next century.

Hundreds of millions of federal government dollars have been spent and will be spent to renovate these lines. The Government of Canada is committed to fix up all the branch lines and will ensure the rolling stock is there to move your grain. A lot has been done. But a lot more must be done to move 1¼ billion bushels a year.

Work is also going ahead to make sure that new West Coast terminal facilities, over and above Vancouver, are in place by 1985. Canada cannot afford future tie-ups at Vancouver. Prince Rupert makes a fine alternate port.

Work on ports and terminals

The greatest efforts are being directed to making Pacific Ocean ports able to handle more exports because that is the direction Canada's markets are developing fastest.

■ Vancouver. Capacity has increased by 10 million bushels. Altogether, it amounts to a 30 per cent improvement.

■ Prince Rupert. A 30 million bushel terminal is being planned.

■ Churchill. This port facility has been upgraded at a cost so far of $10.8 million.

■ Co-ordinators for grain car allocations have been appointed at both Vancouver and Thunder Bay in order to speed up turnaround time for railway equipment.

■ The firms Booz-Allen and Hamilton and the IBI Group are now studying ways to get better service out of the facilities we now have by finding out how railways, elevator companies and ports and ships can work together in better ways.

Upgrading branch rail lines

Between 1971 and 1978, the Government of Canada put $530,000,000 into subsidies for branch lines. In 1977 and 1978, $100,000,000 was spent upgrading lines. More is coming: $70,000,000 is being spent this year and a further $830,000,000 expenditure is planned. This money will be used just to rebuild branch lines.

Planning which lines should get money spent on them became a priority job. The process had to be fast, so the railways and grain handling companies could go about their work and so farmers could make their plans. The process had to be non-political. The process had to permit everyone affected to be heard.

These decisions are still being made, but much has been done.

■ 1974. The Federal Government guaranteed that 12,413 miles of branch lines would be protected for service until at least the year 2000.

Once rail lines are declared permanent, money can be spent improving them. There is no better proof that a line is permanent than the expenditure of millions of dollars improving it.

■ 1975. The Hall Commission was appointed to look at the rest—about 6,283 miles. The Hall Commission recommended that 1,812 miles be added to the permanent network guaranteed to the next century, and the federal government did this.

■ 1975. Meanwhile, the Snively Commission set to work determining what it actually costs to haul grain by rail to Thunder Bay or Vancouver.

■ 1977. The Hall Commission proposed that the future of the remaining 2,344 miles of branch lines be decided by 1990. But many farmers and elevator companies felt this was too long a wait. So, the federal government appointed the Prairie Rail Action Committee (PRAC) to do the job promptly.

■ 1978. PRAC recommended that a further 1,044 miles of new and existing branch line track be added to the permanent network guaranteed to the year 2000. PRAC said extensive upgrading should be done to make this track useful, at the expense of the Government of Canada—estimated to cost $106,035,000. This action has put about 80 per cent of all track in the permanent network.

PRAC made one other major recommendation: that some 1,300 miles of track be abandoned. This could affect only 7 per cent of all Wheat Board permit holders.

■ 1979. No lines can be abandoned without permission of the Canadian Transport Commission (CTC). It will likely hold hearings for each important line and add still more lines to the permanent network.

To bring the CTC closer to Western Canadians, the Minister of Transport has received agreement from the CTC to set up a Western Arm with Commissioners and offices located in Western Canada.

Rebuilding boxcars

In 1974, the federal government spent $3,400,000 to put 2,400 boxcars in both railways back to work hauling grain. A second program started in 1978: it will cost $7,300,000 and will rehabilitate 2,000 more boxcars. There is a possibility further renovations will be undertaken.

Hopper cars

So far, the Government of Canada has spent $260,000,000 to provide 8,000 hopper cars to haul prairie grain. The Minister of Transport has proposed a federal-provincial task force to examine the need for 10,000 more hopper cars by 1985. The railways need them in order to get 1¼ billion bushels of grain to ports on time as the market grows.

Timely action

If work had not started five years ago, immense amounts of grain would now be stuck on farms, separated from ships by a paralyzed rail system. If money had not been spent rebuilding branch lines, buying hopper cars, and expanding terminals at the West Coast, we would have little hope of getting near record amounts of grain out to market as we did in 1978. We would be so far behind we could never meet the 1985 target of 1¼ billion bushels.

How much can we pay for grain transportation?

These are all expensive and important projects that will not only help farmers, but will strengthen Canada's economy and return benefits to the taxpayers who put up most of the money.

These are not acts of charity. They are investments in Western Canada which have been carefully studied and recommended on the basis of their long term return to Canada.

More decisions will have to be made leading to more investment of funds. The people affected will be asked for their opinions.

The reward promises to be that Western Canadian farmers will be in a position to grow and sell 50 per cent more grain than they do now. That's good for every farmer and for all Canadians.

What you can do if your closest rail line is proposed for abandonment

As you have seen, identifying the permanent rail network has been a careful process of analyzing each and every line through the Hall Commission, PRAC and the CTC. A lot has changed, however, over the past four years. Elevators have consolidated, grain delivery patterns have changed, and there are other reasons why lines recommended for abandonment could well be retained by the Western Arm of the CTC with proper representation.

You can fight for unprotected branch lines several ways, starting right now. Here is what you can do:

1. Form a local retention committee. Co-operate with other retention committees on the same rail line.
2. Study the reasons why the Hall Commission or PRAC recommended abandonment. You may find an important mistake or you may find the situation has changed.
3. Let the Western Arm of the CTC know you plan to defend a line. It will be alerted that people are interested in saving a line and want a hearing.
4. The Western Arm of the CTC can deny an application for abandonment for five years or so. The Western Arm of the CTC can also recommend to the Minister of Transport that a line should be added to the permanent network, guaranteed into the next century.

Bertha Kennedy School wins gymnastics division

At the interschool elementary gymnastics competition held this past Sunday, Bertha Kennedy School emerged the winners in the Grade 4-5 division. This was quite an accomplishment for such a small school because there is only one Grade four class and one Grade five class in the school from which to draw the competitors, while all other schools in the competition have larger student populations. Bertha Kennedy narrowly edged Vital Grandin (by one point) in this division.

The girls in the A division (those who take gymnastics outside of school) collected 50.3 points with Nicole Cowling coming fourth in vault, third overall and sixth on the mats. Lindy Coughlin came fifth on the beam, the other girls in this division are Kelly Barr and Lisa Bukowiecki. The girls in the B division really cleaned up on the points getting 57.05 points. Jackie Peterson was fourth in vault and sixth overall, Laura DeNapoli was sixth in vault and third overall. Noelle Tober was fifth in mats and sixth on beam, and Cathy Thorpe was fifth on the mats. The Grade 4-5 boys did very well also getting 53.25 points. Todd Pepin came second on mats and fifth overall. Dale Skakun came first on vault and fifth overall. Mark Johnston came fourth on vault and fifth overall. Rick Tober was sixth on vault, and Hugh Gordon was the other competitor in this division.

The Grade 6 team did not fare quite so well but did have three winners: Colette Sabourin who was sixth on vault, Mark Skakun who was fourth on mats and fourth on rope climb and Brian Schultz who was sixth on rope climb. Other team members were Christine Hein, Mariette Konarzewski, Corrine Bourget, Barry Siemens and Bart Casson. The Grade 4, 5 and 6 teams were coached by Mrs. Wood.

The Grade 2-3 team from Bertha Kennedy also did extremely well placing second with several winners. Top competitor was Heather Johnston from the B girls who came first on the mats, first on the beam, sixth on the vault, and first overall. Crystalle Sabourin came second on the mats and third overall. Natalie Dubaine came sixth on the beam and sixth overall, and Sherry Please Turn to Page A 37

Robert Rundle enrichment program shows success

The Robert Rundle Elementary School is presently offering its third flexible enrichment area for Grade 4 and 5 students. This option deals with the "World of Books" and students who are avid readers were selected to attend. The following students are in this option: Sherry Bennett, Kim Michelle Capham, Patricia Clark, Paul Dimitriou, Patti Fenton, Nicki Firth, Susan Groves, Jennifer Hancock, Marnie Humbert, Sarah Jamison, Jody Kibblewhite, Bev Klassen, Kevin Lusty, Jill Lytwyn, Brett MacDonald, Kerry Morris, Stephen Seger, Tanya Shewchuk, Penny Schroder, Brian Staroszk, Allan Taylor.

Various projects will be undertaken including making book mobiles, dioramas, posters and murals, giving book talks, studying children's picture books to present to younger children, keeping records of the books read, writing to publishers and writing reviews for the local paper, the Gazette.

Here are some samples from one project - students were asked to invite a character from a book they've read to come to dinner. Then they had to write to their mom and explain the invitation.

The Baha'is of St. Albert welcomed a much travelled and renowned visitor to their community Dr. Hedi Amadiyyih, a pediatrician from Belize in Central America.

He spoke at a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drakhsan on Monday, March 12, explaining those teachings of the Baha'i Faith which he has observed creating brotherhood and understanding amongst peoples of diverse religious and racial backgrounds. The central teachings of the Baha'i Faith revolve around the unity of God, the unity of His Teachers (or prophets) and the unity of all mankind.

In recent years, it has been Dr. Amadiyyih's task and honour to help promote these ideas in Central America, South America and the Southern United States. He is currently in Canada for five weeks and in addition to Alberta, he will travel to British Columbia, Manitoba and Quebec.

Siemens came fourth on the vault and fourth on the beam. In the girls A division Tracy Skakun was fifth on the vault and sixth on the beam. Lisa Prime was fifth on the beam, and the two other competitors were Darcy Stein and Candace Leibel. The boys had two ribbon winners in Jason Storoz - who was fourth on the rope and Jeff Hamilton who was sixth overall. Other competitors were Jeff Caouette and Paul Johnston. The Grade 2-3 team was coached by Mr. Johnston.

The school would like to thank Vi Oke and the St. Albert gymnastics club for all their organizational work toward a very well run elementary gymnastics meet.

Drama to be telecast March 25

Canada meant freedom for Blacks fleeing slavery in the United States. Voice of the Fugitive, a half-hour drama produced by the National Film Board, which will be telecast on the CBC network Sunday, March 25 at 9 p.m., tells the story of this underground railway and the people it brought to Canada.

ching, many young couples will be looking toward buying their first home, whether it be a condominium or single family home.

Prices of homes are high in Alberta, making it increasingly difficult for first time buyers. Knowing whether or not you can afford a home, or how much you can pay for one begins by thoroughly understanding mortgages, and their characteristics. You will need to know the basic facts before shopping around for a mortgage.

First some basic definitions. Mortgages are all Amortized - meaning payments are equal, monthly and over a long period of time (usually 25 to 30 years). The interest is calculated on the total loan, and then paid off each month in decreasing amounts. The interest is therefore paid off, long before the principal (the money you borrowed.) For example, if your monthly payment is $500 then the first month your interest payment will be about $495 and $5 towards principal. Next month, interest might be $490 with $10 toward principal. You do not usually make significant contributions toward reducing the principal, until you have paid five to 10 years.

How much can I borrow? Generally, banks will lend you up to 75% of the value of the home. Thus, if the house is valued at $60,000 you will need $15,000 down payment. There are also National Housing Act mortgages available from banks, which allow you to put down five percent of the cost of the house and mortgage the other 95 percent. The house will have to be N.H.A. approved, in other words, built to their specifications.

Remember too, that lending institutions use a general formula to calculate how much mortgage you can afford. Ordinarily they suggest that a consumer can afford a mortgage valued at 2 1/2 times his salary. After a down payment, most consumers can carry a debt load on a house of 30 percent of their income. And, payments on all debts should not exceed 40 percent of your salary.

Next week - Shopping For a Mortgage.

CLASSIFIED DEADLINE 12 NOON TUESDAY

1. BIRTHS

WEA - Larry and Gwen (nee Kinsman) were blessed on February 25 with the arrival of their first child, Kevin Mel, weighing 7 lbs., 11½ ozs. Thanks to Dr. Ken Chow and staff at Sturgeon General Hospital.

2. DEATHS

FWLER

The response to our overwhelming grief in the recent loss of our beloved son and brother, Rick, was itself as overwhelming. Words alone fail to adequately express our deep gratitude to all of the individuals, groups and organizations that were at our side.

Especially, we thank by this notice, the many friends that made deliveries to our home which cannot be personally acknowledged, and the many hundreds who joined us at both services.

Special thanks also to Mrs. Edith Kennedy, Doris Tellier, the Schuhard family and friend, Reverend Fathers Joly, Thibault, Dowling and Lovangie, altar boys and assistants; and to those special people that kept the vigil.

Dick, Vera, Catherine, James, Christine, Caroline and Stuart

STURGEON SECTION

Vol. 20 No. 12 Wednesday, March 21, 1979

Sturgeon Board to hold annual meeting

Trustee Don Hood commented to the Sturgeon School Board at their regular meeting last Wednesday that the annual meeting should be held in conjunction with the official opening of the district office so a maximum turnout would be realized. Chairman Lois Hole thought that it was a good idea remarking that they should try to get as many people out as possible. Trustee James Ward made the motion to hold the annual meeting in conjunction with the official opening on April 23, which was carried unanimously. The doors will open at 7:30 with the official opening taking place at 8 p.m. Coffee will be served and the annual meeting will follow at 9 p.m.

PARKING FEE INCREASE

A request to increase the present parking fee at the Sturgeon Composite High School by Principal B. MacDonald was tabled until after the annual meeting.

ATTENDANCE REPORT

Trustee James Ward commented that it was nice to see suspensions due to fighting, bus regulations, and attendance regulations than for booze. Trustee Joyce Porschild commented that just because it wasn't on the report didn't mean that it wasn't still happening.

MEETING WITH REDWATER

Trustee Keith Everitt reported that the meeting with the Council of Redwater had gone very well and they had found the Town Council very co-operative. Mr. Everitt made a motion that the Board strive to obtain an agreement to get 50% of all park reserves and/or obtain money in lieu of. The motion carried. Trustee Don Hood commented that obtaining money now would mean nothing 10 years down the road. Trustee John McDonell thought the motion was putting the cart before the horse and Trustee Ward commented that if legal advice is needed the matter should be left in the hands of the lawyers.

Open house to view Edmonton Region plans

The Edmonton Regional Planning Commission will be holding an information exchange center for people wishing to inspect and review the draft "Edmonton Regional Plan."

The Open House will feature a slide presentation and map displays to indicate the present and future land use and development of the Edmonton region. Planning staff will be present to provide information and discuss the proposals with the public.

The Exchange Center will take place in both Morinville and Gibbons. In Morinville, the Center will be in the Morinville Community Hall, March 28, from 2:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. In Gibbons, the center will be at the Gibbons Community Hall on March 29. The time will be the same as the Morinville Open House.

Slide presentations will begin at 2:30 and 8 p.m., followed by a discussion period.

For more information and to obtain copies of the Draft Regional Plan, call the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission at 429-6821.

Employees say 11% isn't good enough

The M.D. Council at their meeting last Thursday offered their employees an 11% raise, however, this was not satisfactory to a number of them. The employees' representatives are Gib Boddez and Alf Mabbutt.

Some employees are pushing for flex time and higher raises. Staff, such as assessors, feel that a more flexible work schedule would be more practicable. They could complete projects in a given area through working longer hours and then take the time off, a system which Development Officer

Gary Brownlee is pushing for. It appears council is unwilling to grant flex time to assessors, feeling it would spread to other workers. In addition, it would create problems in the office, where regular work schedules are needed. An executive meeting will deal with the situation on March 29.

The meeting Thursday was held 'in camera', but the Gazette has learned that council felt their offer was generous and were surprised at the employees' reaction.

Cattle provide more than beef

A 1,000 lb. steer yields approximately 435 lbs. of beef. What happens to the rest of the animal - the by-products?

Literally everyone depends on by-products of the beef industry.

The most widely known is leather.

The bones, horns and hooves provide ingredients for the manufacture of piano keys, gelatin for marshmallows and other gelatin products, non-edible gelatin for films, pet food, fertilizer for the garden, and buttons for clothing.

Beef Fat provides oleo stock for margarine, shortening, chewing gum and some candies.

Beef Tallow is used in many commercial and industrial cleaners, and provides glycerine for many cosmetics.

Spotlight On Sturgeon

Cheap thrills can be expensive

By Bob Coles

(The scene opens with a carload of four punks careening around your neighbourhood under the influence of ... your choice of abuse.)

SMASH . . . ha ha ha yippee!
Hey man, wow, you really smashed that mirror. ha ha
Stop! I'll take that window out of that Vega.
Ha ha ha ... nice job man.

When I was a punk from a town about the size of Morinville, vandalism was nothing more than raiding gardens, soaping windows on hallowe'en, and carving initials into the bleachers at the arena. While those dastardly deeds are a joke in comparison to smashing windows and the like, I can't believe that today's punks are any tougher or groovier than my partners in crime. However, today's juvenile crimes have taken on a more serious and violent nature. These pointless pranks are also committed by a wider age group of vandal, ranging in age from 10 to 20.

The reason, of course, is our society and what I call "The Urbanization Syndrome," which is demonstrated by the empathy rural punks have for the conduct of city delinquents. A decade ago rural children were not involved with the type of vandalism that the city kids were involved with at the time. Now there is little difference between the two.

We can't expect the RCMP to be everywhere at once, but the public can be of great assistance to them. The incident outlined above actually happened in Morinville last weekend. The people in the immediate area were definitely upset and wanted to get involved. Having local residents aware and actively concerned aids in catching and deterring some vandals, but it is not the answer.

The real solution rests with society itself. It's time we took the time to look around at what we have created. It is a monster, a very ugly monster, but one we can tame with faith and dedication to basic values that have long been forgotten.

These punks obviously didn't watch the television special on Rahway Prison. It is inspiring programs of this nature that will polish the more tarnished edges of society. I'm sure these punks have seen the movie "Death Wish," but then that's going a little too far ... or is it?

Where is your child tonight?

COOKING UP A STORM

While everyone up front was enjoying the delicious pancake breakfast sponsored by the Redwater Ambulance Brigade on Saturday, these dedicated chefs waited until everyone else was served.

Calahoo W.I. holds 197th meeting

By Liz McLeod

The Calahoo Women's Institute (W.I.) have reached a milestone in the history of their organization with the meeting held on Tuesday, February 27 at 8 p.m. in the Gazebo.

It marked their 20th anniversary in organization. All members except Mrs. Myles Kerr were present. Also attending were: Fred Brown, Pete McLeod, Tom Campbell, Carl Bergstreiser, Glenn Berry, Vic Albrecht, Kris Dalheim, John Thatcher Vance Berry and Roy Schermund, who are very much a part of these gatherings. Mrs. Fred Brown was hostess for this pleasant evening.

We were reminded that the Stony Plain-Lac Ste. Anne constituency conference will be held in the Elk's Hall at Sangudo on Wednesday, April 25.

Mrs. F. Wheatley, Mrs. V. Albrecht, Mrs. T. Campbell and Mrs. K. Dalheim, who attended the Sturgeon Hospital Auxiliary meeting in St. Albert, enjoyed themselves. Some members in Calahoo W.I. are very busy mending for the Sturgeon Hospital Auxiliary.

The present membership in Women's Institutes is $3 a year per member, however, council wanted the branches to discuss bringing the membership fee up to $5 per year per member.

Calahoo's group voted to have it raised to the $5 per year.

With regard to a date set, for compiling the reports, Mrs. F. Isabell Wheatley (Const. Con.) asked that the year be from May 1, 1978 to March 31, 1979 making it possible for these reports to get into the hands of the Educational Convenors by April 15.

Something else to think about for the convention - the three year terms are up for the handicraft, social services and health and home economics convenors, so elections for new convenors will take place.

Since this will be the 25th anniversary for the handicraft competition Isabell asks members how many articles they have ready for the handicraft tea, which will be held in Dayton Valley on October 24, 1979.

The Federated Women's Institute of Canada, (FWIC) have as their 60th anniversary project the restoration of the Adelaide Hoodless Homestead.

The Alberta Women's Institute (A.W.I.) have suggested that we make March, Adelaide Hoodless Month and the roll call can be a personal gift of $1 or more towards this worthy cause. Calahoo W.I. members gave the dollar each right away.

A.W.I. plans for celebrating their 70th anniversary include a new member competition in each branch from January 1, 1979 to December 31, 1979. The branch with the greatest increase will be recognized at the 1980 convention.

The Landrover for Lesotho has been delivered and is in use. With matching grants, the total amount was $12,000. The "Wells for Kenya" project is in the hands of the Federal Government now. All the necessary paper work has been done here and in Kenya.

Isabell reported on the workshop she attended. She was able to listen to Dr. Audrey Griffith, Alberta Committee Chairman of the International Year of the Child.

An excellent poster on the Year of the Child will be available from: Mrs. Joan Wing, Prov. Chairman, Alberta U.N.I.C.E.F. Committee, 824 Imperial Way S.W., Calgary, Alberta T2S 1N7.

Here's a thought to ponder:

"The old garment of our living does not fit any more."

If we are to live comfortably in this tight world, we must let out the seams of our thinking." Written by Mrs. Raymond Sayre in 1949, when she was President of the Associated Country Women of the World (A.C.W.W.).

The A.W.I. Girl's clubs are needing assistance, so this group donated $25 towards this fund. A delegate will take this money to Provincial convention in Olds.

Mrs. R. Alice Schermund, won the door prize, that was brought by Mary Dalheim.

The Flower Committee chairman, Mrs. C. Bergstreiser, presented Mrs. Emelia Schermund with a gift because of her stay in hospital.

Mrs. V. Betty Albrecht, then gave a demonstration on weaving. She had a Christmas door hanging, the start of a basket, a handbag, cushion tops and a "pop-sicle" belt on display.

The always jolly lunch hour followed and Mrs. Pete McLeod was honored for her birthday in February.

The next meeting of Calahoo W.I. will be held in the Gazebo, on Tuesday, March 27, with hostess being Mrs. P. McLeod. For roll call make an ornament from a potato.

Visitors are always welcome.

Namao 60 Plus Club News

By Hazel Martin

When 60 Plus Club, of Namao, gathered at the Hall on March 1 we were pleased to be able to welcome back Mr. Glen Samis, after his three weeks stay at Sturgeon General, and Mrs. Kit Hudson looking well and happy after her trip to Australia, New Zealand, and Hawaii.

President, Mr. Harold Clapp, reported that the men had completed the repairs to the tables.

We are most interested in the proposed workshop tentatively set for the latter part of March, and at least four members will be attending.

Mrs. Vi Samis gave us an up-to-date account of the progress of our pictorial history of Namao. The pictures blown up have been very good, and she is arranging them in sequence of pioneer families.

Our membership to the Council on Aging was renewed.

Mr. Archie Junkin was home for the weekend from Calgary, and reported that his sister is recovering from her heart attack, and he is hoping to be able to return to his own home about the end of March.

After completing our business session games and cards were enjoyed, and we had brisk appetites for the lovely hot baking powder biscuits served by Mrs. Daisy Craig and Mrs. Maude McDonnell.

Our next meeting is March 15 and we extend a most cordial invitation to all seniors and their guests to join us.

Sturgeon Valley 4H Dairy Club

By Christine Kushak

On March 13 the Sturgeon Valley 4H Dairy Club held their monthly meeting at the Gibbons Legion at 8 p.m. The meeting was brought to order by Linda Kushak with the pledge led by Joey Hostyn.

The club decided to hold a bingo for a money raising project on March 27 at 8 p.m. at the Gibbons Hall. On March 31 the club will hold a tour day and judging starting at 10 p.m. Also the club picked out demonstration partners for April 8 where the members will demonstrate how to do something. The meeting was then adjourned.

After the meeting Garth Rowell showed slides from Japan where he stayed a year on a dairy farm. After his presentation there was a delicious lunch served.

Namao News

By Norma Crozier

Namao C.G.I.T. and Explorer girls held a St. Patrick's Day tea in the Community Hall on March 17. The hall was beautifully decorated with shamrocks and green streamers, candles and daffodils on the centre tea table. Former explorer leader, Mrs. Laura Potter donated an afghan which the girls raffled. It was won by Miss Betty Luka. Proceeds from the raffle, bake sale, fish pond and white elephant sale will be used to sponsor a disabled person to Camp He Ho Ha for a summer vacation.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Marwyne Ratke on the birth of a new son. Randy Tyson arrived on March 8 weighing 6 lbs. 6 1/2 ozs., a wee brother for Darcy.

Get well wishes go out to Mrs. Ada Potter in the General Hospital, to Jack Nelsen and Mrs. Carrie Akerman in the Royal Alexander Hospital. We wish them all better health very soon.

Mrs. Alma Paul and Mrs. Ruth Hodgins accompanied by her sister and her husband, Edith and Percy Fletcher are home from a month's holiday. They spent a few days in Hawaii before flying to Fiji where the weather was disappointing with rain. They went on to

New Zealand and Australia where they could have spent more time touring these two countries.

Mr. Glen Samis and his son Peter are back from a two week holiday in Hawaii. Barbara and Bud Horricks and Mae and Don Horricks also joined them for this holiday. They enjoyed one week in Waikiki and one on the island of Maui.

Morinville Interclub News

Interclub held their second meeting of 1979 on March 15th. Attendance was light. Some of our clubs and organizations have been very busy during the past two months also will be busy in the forthcoming months. The Knights of Columbus and the Morinville Emergency Ambulance Service are sponsoring a first aid course beginning April 2. Anyone interested in taking the course phone Claire Casavant at 939-4236 or Bjorg Carlson at 939-4467. The Knights are also making plans for their crib tournament on April 27.

Representations of Frontier Daze reported that plans are well underway for our June celebration. A rodeo will be the new highlight for 1979. Any girls wishing to run as Frontier Daze Queen contestants, are asked to contact Leslie Enright for further information.

Anyone interested in soccer, please contact Carl Rowan at 939-4296. A soccer association has been formed but not registered as yet.

The Morinville Lions Club have drawn for the trip to Hawaii raffle, the winner being Mrs. Agnes Steffes of Edmonton. Their 30th anniversary, Charter Night is to be held on March 31. Tickets are available from any member.

Our Senior Citizens Rendez-Vous Club have been very active over the winter. They plan on taking square dancing lessons beginning on March 27 at their clubhouse.

The Morinville Lions Figure Skating Club are making ready for their annual carnival to be held on March 25 in the Agriplex commencing at 2 p.m. A great deal of work has gone into this carnival. We urge the public to attend.

The Royal Canadian Legion have had a successful winter and their weekly bingos are doing very well.

The Morinville United Church are planning a Mother's Day tea and bake sale to be held in the Historical and Cultural Centre (March 12).

The representative of the Historical and Cultural Centre reported that the three door locks at the rear and side entrances have been replaced. The building has been made safe electrically. This has been a slow and expensive program. The third floor is to be completed at a future date.

The next Interclub meeting is May 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Morinville second in 2A basketball provincial

The Georges P. Vanier Coyotees finished second to Springbank in the 2A high school girls basketball provincial final played last weekend. A full house of spectators packed the Vanier gymnasium for the game which ended with a score of 54-45. The strong Springbank team gained an early lead and although the Vanier girls closed the gap considerably, they could not overcome their opponents. The top scorer for the Morinville team was Lillian Morin with 20 points.

Before making it to the final, Morinville had earlier defeated Devon 51-39 and then Rimby 56-52 in a game that had gone to overtime. In the Devon game the top Morinville scorers were Louise Carignan and Lillian Morin each with 15 points and against Rimby it was Lillian Morin with 25 points.

Finishing third in the tournament was Rimby, fourth place went to Devon followed by Picture Butte, Myrnam, Bow Island and Fairview.

This is the second consecutive year the Vanier girls have advanced to the provincials under the direction of coach Archie Coderre. Mr. Coderre has had a total of six years experience in coaching basketball.

TRAVELLING MAM

Rimbey Spartans' Glenda Robinson tried to sneak past Morinville centre Michelle Gibeault and another unidentified Coyotee during Georges P. Vanier's 2A Provincial Playoffs Saturday. Morinville defeated Rimby 56-52 in overtime and finished second overall in the tournament.

Association organizes for 1979

Plans are well underway for the annual fair to be held June 23 and 24. The theme this year will be "Morinville Frontier Daze Salutes the International Year of the Child." This theme was suggested by Debbie Unrau, a high school student, and in appreciation she will receive $15 from the board.

Previously board members of the FDA consisted mainly of individuals from the community. This year, there is a much greater involvement of groups and clubs. Many FDA members are representing their club and handling a specific area for the fair. If anyone is interested in helping the FDA or if they have any questions or suggestions please contact Claude Demers (939-4068). (Names and phone numbers of members and their area will be forthcoming).

The main aim of the publicity campaign is to reach as many people as possible and attract them to Frontier Daze.

A good attendance is always beneficial to the town as the proceeds are turned back into the community. Frontier Daze events are promoted through radio newspaper and television and all monies donated will be used solely to cover the expenses of this advertising media. Last year $3,255 was spent on advertising and $3,017 was collected. This money collected was donated by various businesses and groups in and out of Morinville. We will again be approaching businesses and groups, new and old, and are looking forward to their support.

Cardiff Column

By Florence Vranas

Ken Witter underwent back surgery last week but is now home after a three week stay in hospital. Nice to see you home again Ken.

A public meeting for Cardiff and district residents was held at the MD Building in Morinville on March 7 to determine what type of building facility would best meet our community's needs. Everyone present agreed this was needed and as a result a Building Committee was named that evening and has already met once to discuss and gather ideas and data as to the size etc. of the proposed project. Another public meeting will be held when this committee feels it has enough information to present.

The developer of Cardiff Echoes, the superintendent of Sturgeon Regional Recreation and the development officer were all present at the public meeting.

The next meeting of the Cardiff Community Club will be held at the home of Marilyn Weiss on March 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Ed and Terry Weisgerber, Howard and Jane Kieser and Harvey and Christine Vranas returned home on March 11 after a two week holiday to Hawaii. They were blessed with sunny, hot weather except for one day.

Harvey, Christine and Jane report the highlight of their trip was an all-day Panorama air tour of the eight main islands, a total of 900 air miles in a nine passenger D18 Beachcraft, each passenger having a large viewing window. What follows is a description of their holiday as Christine told it.

"Leaving Oahu we travelled southeast over Lanai the pineapple island bought by Mr. Dole many years ago. 17,000 square miles of pineapples!

The next island of Kahoolawe is uninhabited and used for target practise by the U.S. forces.

Then on to the big island of Hawaii, landing along the west coast at Keahole with lava rock on both sides of the runway. We went for a short bus tour to Kailua and back in the air again flying over Kona coffee trees, a steaming volcano, extinct volcanoes, two large snow capped mountains, the highest being 13,796 the Mauna Kea, where the world's highest observatory is located, and where skiers meet every winter.

One cattle ranch on this island numbers 80,000 cattle. Also viewed was 420 ft. Akaka Falls that plunges into a lush gorge where bamboo, orchids and giant ginger grow. These falls are higher than Niagara Falls.

Next stop was at the second largest island of Maui. We landed at Kahului and took a short bus tour to view the valley and back to a delicious smorg. dinner. The island of Maui only allows four storey buildings, so it was a big change from the skyscrapers of Waikiki beach. Leaving Maui travelling north towards Molokai we spotted two whales in the ocean.

Molokai's north shore is one of the most spectacular scenes in Hawaii. Fortress-like cliffs and perpetual waterfalls plunge 2,000 feet to the sea. Kalaupapa is along this shore where victims of leprosy were banished during the 19th century.

We then flew west over Honolulu enroute to the island of Kauai to view the Waimea Canyon "the Grand Canyon of the Pacific" which is over 3,000 feet deep, a spectacular view, as its colors change as the clouds cast moving shadows on exposed volcanic rock walls, an unexpected sight on a tropical island. The northern coast, the jagged, rocky Na Pali coastline rises 4,000 feet up from the sea. Flying further towards the eastern tip is Hanalei Bay where many Hollywood movies are filmed. We landed at Lihue with sugar cane along the little runway. We boarded a bus to Waimea River for a three mile cruise to a famous Fern Grotto passing by lush vegetation and ancient Royal Burial Grounds. Many couples travel to the grotto to be married there. Mt. Waialeale on Kauai is over 5,000 feet high and is the wettest spot on earth with an average annual rainfall of 480 inches. Eighteen miles south lies the small island of Niihau, population of 237, the "Forbidden Island," as you need a special invitation to land there, the Robinson family ranch is located there. Our pilot informed us that English is only taught once the children are in Grade 8, so most inhabitants are true natives, no radio, or T.V.! Left Pihue for Honolulu and the 104 mile trip home for a truly wonderful day!

Gibbons Library News

A good selection of books in the fiction category has been added to the shelves of the Gibbons Public Library. Among the recent additions are "The Magus" by John Fowles, the story of a young English school teacher who accepts an assignment in Greece. "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" by Stephen Spielberg is the story of a young engineer and his experiences, which start the night of a strange local blackout.

"Ordinary People," by a new author, Judith Guest, tells of the difficulties encountered by a family when their 17 year old son comes home from a stay in a mental hospital following a suicide attempt. If you watched the TV series "Centennial" you'll enjoy reading the book by well-known author James Michener. "Taproots of Falconhurst" by Ashley Carter, deals with some of the problems of slavery in the U.S. during the presidency of Abraham Lincoln.

A man's hatred for the world's largest tanker drives him to desperate actions to try to destroy it in "The Shipkiller." Laurence Meynell has written a witty novel of suspense and fun "Hook Gets the Wooden Spoon." You may also enjoy Kristin Hunter's "The Lakestown Rebellion" in which a delightful cast of characters try to thwart the plans of white men who wish to build a highway that would destroy the homes of blacks.

If you like love stories you'll like Madelain Pollard's "Sabrina" which is set in Ireland.

These are only a few of the new books available, and of course, there are many others to choose from by popular authors. We have a large collection of paperbacks, westerns, romances, science fiction, mysteries. Many new books have been put into the Children's section also and there are records they may check out as well.

There are large print books available for anyone with failing eyesight and a talking book service is available for anyone requiring it.

The library is operated by a small corps of volunteers who would welcome more help -- so if you would like to offer your assistance for a few hours each week or each month, we would like to hear from you. Please call Pat Wandler, 923-2626 and she will outline the kinds of assistance required.

Library opening hours are 7 to 9 Monday, Tuesday and Thursday and 1 to 3 on Wednesday and Saturday.

STORY HOUR

Every Saturday afternoon

from 1 to 2 p.m. is Children's Story Hour at the Gibbons Public Library. Michelle Avsan, a member of the Girl Guides, will read and tell stories to youngsters.

Sincere sympathy from the community extended to Shannon Derouin and family on the passing of her husband Jerry, who passed away on Sunday, March 18.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Sunday School will again be starting up for another season. Classes will begin on Sunday, April 1 at 10 a.m. Our Sunday School is non-denominational and children of all ages are invited to attend. Be sure to mark your calendar and make arrangements for your children to attend our services which are a little over an hour in time.

WELCOME BACK

Welcome home to Mrs. Ula Mabbutt who just returned from an extended vacation from before Christmas visiting her sister Elsie Beckman in Rapid City. The two sisters travelled to Mexico for two weeks, Pittsburgh and Dallas where they took numerous tours and had a very enjoyable holiday. Glad your home again Ula!

MICROWAVE DEMO

Mrs. Bonnie Sharrun will be having a microwave demonstration course at her home on April 4 all day from 9:30 to 3 p.m. Pat Doerksen, the home economist will be cooking different foods all day in the hopes of showing you different tips and ideas for ways of operating your microwave. She also asked that you bring your favorite recipes along. If you would like further information or would like to register, please phone Charlotte McLean at 923-2168.

PAPER DRIVE

The Busy Bees, Brownies and Girl Guides will be holding a paper drive on March 28. If you have papers you would like to get rid of please leave them on your front step so the girls will not have to bother you. All monies received from paper drives go into the organizations to help give the girls the best opportunities possible.

BINGO

On Tuesday, March 27 the Sturgeon Dairy Club will be holding a miscellaneous bingo at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall. There will be 20 games with each game awarding a different prize which were all donated by different businesses. There will be refreshments and door prizes.

Gibbons Sunday School Circle

Sunday School Circle held their regular monthly meeting on March 13 in the Sunday School building. Kay Roe, president, was in the chair. The executive conducted the meeting, while the others present quilled. Marj Taylor read the Creed. Cindy Williams called the roll to which 11 members answered. Lists for catering service charges were handed out.

A letter was read regarding a "Famine Supper" to be held on April 6 in the Bon Accord Hall. This is under the auspices of the Anglican Church. Anne and Marj will make cabbage rolls for it.

A "Nursery Rhyme" quilt has been put on the frame. Cindy had the tickets, which Pat Keown offered to look after. Tickets are a straight 3/51 this year and are available now from members.

of the Circle. Proceeds this year will go to Spruce View Manor. Toots Crosbie was asked to inquire if the completed quilt could be displayed in the Craft Room at the Manor. Draw for the quilt will be made at the annual spring tea on May 5.

There was a letter from Gibbons Recreation Board re funding for the current year. Marj was instructed to pay Calgary Power and Northwestern Utilities accounts.

Kay Roe brought up the matter of Craft work for the tea on May 5.

There was a request for the Circle to cater a cold lunch for a wedding dance in July.

Cindy Williams and Eileen Stinton served a delicious lunch.

Quilting will continue every Tuesday evening, for any members who wish to help.

Gibbons dray man, Tommy Holmes

By Margarette J. Atkinson

On days when the old steam locomotive drawn passenger train arrived in Gibbons from the city, the west end of main street was a beehive of activity. Empty cream cans with farmers' names on the "shoulder" areas were being stacked near the freight shed on the heavy planks of the old station platform.

Tom Holmes, his big, grey English sheep dog "Buster" following, clucked his horses as they made their deliveries, after they picked things up at the station house. His first stop was at Norman Knott's Butcher Shop, where great sides of beef, pork and boxes of other meats were unloaded.

Tommy's next stop was at the Post Office, which at that time, was located on the east end of McLean Bros. General Merchant building. Here, heavy canvas mail bags containing mail order finery from the catalogues, as well as patent medicines and other mail.

After his deliveries were finished, Mr. Holmes, his grey cap (a part of his identity) set squarely on his head, his blue eyes shining, his moustache would twitch into a smile and he'd say, "giddap Barney, home for our rest."

Mr. Holmes had a limp and was a very slim man, with fragile features, but a very pleasant man. He was the fellow who planted that row of tall Canadian Maples, you can still see near the elevators as you come up the Gibbons side of the river hill. That was all his place north of that road right down to where the Earl Toanes' now reside.

Tom Holmes kept sheep, goats, chickens and his horses on that place. He also grew some crop and the finest garden anywhere. (He loved to experiment). His place was so beautiful and always well kept.

My father always carried our drinking water from Tommy's well, using a Please Turn to Page B 10

Gibbons Mite A's win CFB Edmonton tournament

The mites put together a weekend of excellent hockey to take the championship in Nmao. Saturday morning the Gibbons mites defeated the Sherwood Park Bears 7-3. In the second game Saturday night the boys came up with a hard hitting, close checking game to take a reinforced St. Albert Uni-royal team 7-4.

The finals on Sunday saw everybody put out in a wide open game which saw Gibbons dominate play ending the tourney with a 10-3 win. Mite A's are now awaiting the winners of the Sturgeon semi-final - Morinville vs Bon Accord.

Watch for posters and please come out and support our boys. Many thanks to all the fans who came out and cheered our boys to victory. Congratulations!

NOTICE OF THE PUBLIC HEARING WITH RESPECT TO BYLAW NUMBER 123 VILLAGE OF BON ACCORD GENERAL MUNICIPAL PLAN.

The purpose of Bylaw Number 123 is to provide a framework for the effective management of the Village of Bon Accord's future growth and the achievement of the Village's stated development objectives.

The Village of Bon Accord General Municipal Plan Bylaw 123 describes the land uses proposed for the municipality in and adjacent to the town and the sequence proposed for future development. The plan also designates the areas of the municipality that would, in the opinion of the Council, be suitable for an area structure plan or an area redevelopment plan as defined by The Planning Act, 1977.

Any person that wishes to make representation to the Village Council concerning Bylaw Number 123 shall have the opportunity to do so at the public hearing to be held Tuesday, April 3, 1979, commencing at 7 p.m. in the Village of Bon Accord in Council Chamber. Written briefs will be received by Council prior to verbal presentation and must be submitted to the Secretary Treasurer on or before March 28, 1979.

Copies of the proposed bylaw and related plans are available for public inspection at the Village office between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Monday to Friday.

No. 524 Sturgeon Air Cadets on Parade

By Julie Saunders

On Saturday, March 10, seven cadets from #524 squadron with three of their officers made the trip to CFB Penhold to appear before the selection boards. They were competing with cadets from other squadrons for the various scholarships for which they had applied.

Representing #524 squadron for the Exchange Scholarship is WO2 F. Hutchings. F-Sgt. M. Graca has applied for a Flying Scholarship (Powered Flight) as have F-Sgt. T. McHardy and Sgt. J. McColeman. F-Sgt. McHardy has also applied for the Gliding Scholarship and Sgt. McColeman has applied for the Athletic Leader Scholarship as well.

Sgt. C. Wood and Sgt. D. Milligan have each applied for the Senior Leaders Scholarship. Trying for the Ground Search and Survival is Cpl. A. Saunders.

Our Sponsoring Committee Chairman, Mrs. Evelyn Hutchings reported an interesting time as she sat on one of the selection boards and interviewed cadet candidates from many different squadrons.

On Tuesday, March 13, the squadron blitzed the Morinville area selling chocolates. Our thanks to participating cadets, parents who provided transportation, and to the good people in Morinville for their support.

On Sunday, March 18th, 18 cadets met at Namao for familiarization flying. For some it was their first flight in a Twin Otter, and for all, it was an interesting experience seeing their home and surrounding area from the air.

For information on joining Air Cadets come to the Gibbons School on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. or phone 921-3518.

You are reminded of the South Pacific dance slated for Friday, March 23 in the Cave. Tickets are $20 per couple. The draw for the Trip to Las Vegas will be made at the dance.

DANCING

Social dancing anyone? If you are interested in learning to waltz, fox trot, polka or just interested in brushing up on what you already know, call Doris Carleton, 921-3638 soon!

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Ladies Community Club met at the home of Lynda Adams with 12 members present, for all those new people who are not acquainted with the work of the club, it is the strong right hand of the Community Centre Board sponsoring sundry activities, catering and raising a great deal of money which is poured back into community facilities. Membership is open to all ladies. For information, contact Club President Lynda Johnson, 921-3634.

ALLEYCAT TOURNAMENT

March 24 and 25 will feature an Alleycat Tournament at the arena.

ANNUAL MEETING

You are reminded -- The annual ratepayers meeting of the village of Bon Accord will be held on Monday, March 26 at 8 p.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre. Be sure to attend.

GOLDEN GEMS

The Golden Gems senior citizen club held a very successful and enjoyable pot luck supper in the Jewel Box on March 16. The club was happy to welcome former residents of the Bon Accord-Gibbons area, Muriel McCue and Bob and Irene Davis. We hope that more friends will join us for our next supper, hopefully sometime in April.

BINGO

The bingo jackpot is now $250 in 58 numbers. Winner of the bonanza was Dorothy Durk of Gibbons. Free admission to next week's bingo were won by Bert McEachren, Sandy Herd and Marge Rubin. Play bingo Sundays at 7:30 p.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre.

FILM

A film on Readers' Theatre will be shown at the Jewel

Box on April 3 at 2 p.m.

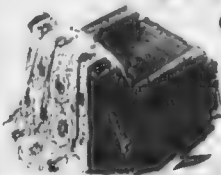

GOLDEN GEMS

On March 27 a lady from Woodward's will be out to demonstrate the workings of the sewing machine at the Jewel Box. The Golden Gems are looking for a fold-away bed to keep at the Centre in case of emergencies. Anyone who has one for sale is asked to contact Alice Schneider, 921-3673. Although the club's business meeting is now set for the third Wednesday of the month, Tuesdays are still the days slated for socializing.

WANTED

Boys who are interested in Scouts. We are attempting to organize a scout pack in Bon Accord. The pack will lean heavily on outdoor activities. The equipment for this is already available. Three fathers will be required to act as leaders (training provided).

CUBS

The cub pack is successful with a membership of twenty-three boys and a potential of doubling that number this coming year. Leaders are desperately needed as we have only one at this time. If we have no help forthcoming, it will be the pack that suffers. Come on fathers, let's work with our boys.

BROWNIES

The Brownie pack is having a very successful year with twenty-two girls and four leaders. They are in need of two more mothers to take the place of two leaders who are leaving.

Doug Lesyk at 921-3996.

Bon Accord Lions

The Lion's Club is having its drive for new members. In order to be an effective club we need a minimum of six new members. Our projects of the last year were:

1. Help with Annual Ambulance Auction
2. Slave labor, proceeds to Auction.
3. Sponsored TV raffle.
4. Repair & erection of windmill for Village of Bon Accord.
5. Planting of trees for Bon Accord.
6. Maintain grass at cemetery.
7. Christmas tree sale - proceeds to Ambulance.
8. Donation to Brownies for camp.

If you are service minded and would like to find out more about our club, please phone Doug Lesyk 921-3996.

VILLAGE OF BON ACCORD PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 153 of the Municipal Taxation Act, R.S.A., 1970, Public Notice is hereby given that the Council of the Village of Bon Accord intends to undertake the construction of street improvements (pavement, curbs and gutter) as a local improvement. The estimated cost of the aforementioned local improvements is $238,000.00 repayable over a period of 20 years at a rate of interest not exceeding twelve per centum (12%) per annum and to charge the land abutting that portion of the street or place wherein the local improvement is made at a uniform rate of $5.25 per front foot of frontage for street improvements (paving, curb and gutter) over the said period of 20 years.

All costs in excess of the aforementioned rate per front foot will be borne by the Village at large.

A. STREET IMPROVEMENTS (paving, curb and gutter)

WHAT A PRODUCTION!

sturdy wooden yoke suspended over his strong shoulders. As long back as I can remember, Mr. Holmes always spent his Christmas and New Year's Day and evening at our railway home.

As a very exacting bachelelor, Tom did all of his own preserving of fruits, vegetables, jams and relishes. As well he made some beet and rhubarb wines utilizing an old time hand wringer to squeeze out the juices.

If a person were to take all the stucco and the south lean-to off of the house which stands west of the old railway station across the tracks, you'd find our late dray man of the 20's and 30's original cream painted home. It was set with one end facing east, with the doorway on the north, and lots of windows to make his highly polished linoleum floors gleam. Beautiful trees surrounded his house for shade, yet the light was never spoiled.

A young black haired Irish lad, Dan Kearney arrived from Ireland in the very early 30's to settle down at Tommy Holmes' place. He was a very muscular lad and his cheeks were as red as apples. He spent his Sundays at our railway home for supper as well as every Christmas and New Year's.

I found his Irish brogue very intriguing and noticed that he was very taken with my pretty, sweet, demure sister Violet. Of course a gentleman in those days did not openly show his feelings. My nine year old small self used to sit listening to him talk, while I gazed at him with calf like eyes.

Tom was glad to have young Dan around. He was a hard worker. A more honourable man than Dan Kearney never crossed our paths. He was truly a man of good deeds.

So our dray man, Mr. Tom Holmes, served Gibbons as long as the passenger trains carried the mail, meat and other needs. Soon age took its toll of our dear old friend. Our dear Dan Kearney left for Ireland (still single). I know his feelings, as he had lost our sweet Violet. He had said, "I'll not see another like her."

Sturgeon Regional Recreation News

READER'S THEATRE FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

There really isn't a single "cut and dry" definition for Reader's Theatre, but for the participating Senior Citizens groups in the Sturgeon Region, perhaps their two primary purposes in gathering are to make it an enjoyable experience for everyone and to do everything as simply as possible. Simplicity is perhaps the key word in any description of Reader's Theatre. In other words, all of the difficult aspects of production are avoided. Focus can then be directed to having fun with characters and scripts. "Keepsakes," a Senior Citizen's Reader's Theatre project sponsored by Alberta Culture, will be visiting two Senior's groups in our region to practically demonstrate the vast possibilities of Reader's Theatre. They have an entertaining 45 minute show that will be presented in Morinville (at the Rendez-vous Clubhouse, March 26 at 1 p.m.) and in Bon Accord (at the Golden Agers Clubhouse, April 3 at 2 p.m.). Both shows are open to anyone who is interested, with a special invitation to Senior's of the area. Phone Paul at 939-4317 or representatives from either of the clubs mentioned above for more information.

Alcomdale News

By Beryl Bailey

The Alcomdale Community League held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, February 28 in the Community Hall at 8:30 p.m. Ten members were present. It was decided to hold a cabaret March 24 in the Alcomdale Community Hall with the Chermia Band supplying the music. Tickets available from the following members - telephone 939-4987, 939-2255 and 939-3189.

Also a Spring Supper was planned for Sunday, April 22. Details to be announced later in early April.

Mrs. J. M. Bailey was an overnight guest of Mrs. R. Wills recently of Morinville

... during which time she attended the opening of the new apartments in Heritage Place. The program was held in the Morinville Recreation Centre with refreshments served following the formal opening. Later many present toured the apartments and were very pleased with what they saw.

Weatherwise the recent milder weather was a pleasant change from the steady cold of recent weeks. The snow settled a great deal and many basements and cellars found water pouring into them a month or more earlier than usual. It is hoped that March coming in like a lamb it will not go out like a lion.

School bus awareness program continues

Alberta Transportation is extending its two-pronged program aimed at raising Albertans' awareness of school buses. In announcing the program continuance, safety branch director Don Kuchinski said, "With over 115,000 young Albertans travelling to and from school every day in school buses, the importance of our educational campaign is evident."

"The most visible part of the program appears right on roads in the province," he said. "It's a symbolic sign that depicts the action required of a motorist when encountering a school bus displaying its alternately flashing red lights."

The second part of the program is an educational campaign making use of billboards, print and electronic media.

Mr. Kuchinski said his group is already involved in other aspects of school bus safety, including investigation of accidents involving school buses, monitoring of school bus vehicle safety systems, seminars for school bus supervisors and drivers, and an ongoing review of the roadway environment including the location of school bus stops and signage.

"A great many drivers are unaware of the law which requires them to stop when a school bus is loading or unloading passengers and its alternately flashing red lights are on," he said. "They must stop when overtaking such a bus from behind, or meeting it from the front."

STEADY AS SHE GOES

This device gently picks up 36 eggs at a time and delicately sets them on the conveyor you can see back centre in the above photo. The conveyor is part of a washing and drying unit at Raven's Egg Grading Station.

Raven's Egg Grading Station opens in Industrial Park

By Bob Coles

Today marks the official opening of the new Egg Grading Station in the Morinville Industrial Park. The station is owned by Tony and June Raven of R.R. 2 St. Albert and will be operated by their son Steven. The plant has been in operation since February 5 and currently employs seven local people.

45,000 eggs pass through the station each week on the basis of a three-day work week. The eggs are supplied to all of the Woodward's stores in Alberta, as well as the Sturgeon General Hospital, the Youville Home, Johnston's Meat Enterprises Ltd. and the Touch Inn, all located in St. Albert.

The eggs arrive from eight different poultry farms in the Sturgeon area two of which are owned by Mr. Raven. One of the farms has four barns and holds a total of 30,000 layers. Their other farm is located near Bon Accord and has 4,000 brown hens and 10,000 young hens. Brown hens lay brown shell eggs, that basically, are no different than the usual white shell eggs.

Upon arrival the eggs are stored in the cooler for at least a day. It is easier to spot eggs that aren't Grade A if they have been given a chance to settle.

After settling, the eggs are brought out of the cooler and placed on a conveyor in cartons of three dozen each. The eggs are delicately lifted from the flats at the end of the conveyor by arms, which utilize rubber suction cups on the ends. The eggs are placed into a washer and dryer, where the eggs receive a thorough cleansing.

lights in a screened off area, where an operator picks out anything that isn't Grade A.

Eggs that show blood are thrown out, while Grade C eggs (cracked) are kept and sent to Red Deer where they are either powdered or frozen. Grade B eggs (eggs that are odd shaped or have a large air cell) are placed into flats and sold right at the station to local residents. The Grade A's continue on the conveyor where they are automatically separated by weight into the market sizes: Jumbo, Extra Large, Large, Medium, Small and Peewee. The eggs then follow separate conveyors and are cartoned into dozens by their respective sizes. From here the eggs go to market to wind up in some consumer's stomach in any number of forms the versatile egg may take.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure

By Ross Moon

"Rustlers - Hang 'em high!" That age old cry has been echoing in the minds of many cattlemen this past year. With the strengthening in the cattle market, many Alberta cattlemen have experienced an unnecessary dollar drain from their pocketbooks due to rustling. Offences are reportedly on an increase. How can the number of offences be minimized?

You can help protect yourself by reducing the chances of the crime being committed. Proof of ownership is a good place to start. This may best be achieved by proper branding of stock and registering brands with the "Recorder of Brands." Settler. Keep good records indicating births, sales, purchases and slaughtering.

During the grazing season, maintain a good check of the herd and conduct the check with some irregularity to prevent would-be rustlers from casing your operation. Vary the check at different times of the day and week and also use different vehicles if possible. Arrange to have someone watch your operation when you are away. Note any strange vehicles in the area and record license numbers. Lock pasture gates. It may seem like a hassle and it's far from being foolproof, but it's your investment you may be protecting. If you have a mobile loading chute at a pasture location, make it as inaccessible as possible. Posting of "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs around your property should discourage people to wander over your property.

In addition to your activities, the services of the local R.C.M.P. detachment are available if irregularities are detected. There are specific force members located at Edmonton, Red Deer and Calgary who are experienced in rustling offences. Report the loss early and provide good descriptions. Unusual activity on ranges and pastures should be reported.

All livestock being transported or driven in Alberta must be accompanied by a "Livestock Manifest" that fully describes the livestock. Every person who buys, sells or offers livestock for shipment shall do so in his own legal name. Report all livestock found astray to your local R.C.M.P. or Brand Inspector immediately.

The Alberta Cattle Commission offers a reward of up to $1,000 to anyone supplying information to the authorities that leads to a conviction for rustling. We can all help to keep rustling at a minimum by keeping the previously mentioned points in mind.

Saints win both weekend playoff games

St. Albert Junior Saints took a stranglehold on one of the two round-robin playoff berths in Alberta Junior Hockey League playoff action over the weekend as they posted a 6-4 win over the Canucks in Calgary Friday night and then handed the visiting Fort Saskatchewan Traders a 6-2 defeat Saturday night in St. Albert.

Defending champion Canucks have their backs to the wall as they also lost 7-3 to the Traders in the Fort Sunday afternoon.

By the time you read this article the Saints could have one of the two best of seven playoff berths wrapped up as they played the Canucks in St. Albert last night. Should they have won the Canucks would have been all but eliminated. No score was available at press time.

Saints will play their final game of the double round-robin tournament Wednesday night (March 21) in the Fort while the Fort will wind up the series Thursday night in Calgary.

The same three teams also played in the playoffs last year with the Traders finishing first with three wins and a loss, Canucks split their four games and the Saints were eliminated with only a win and three losses.

In the best of seven finals it was no contest, as the Canucks won in four straight.

Saints opened the series in Calgary Friday night and received an excellent performance by Brian Ford in the nets, as he came up with 28 saves, many of which were sure goals.

St. Albert started off very strong and had a 3-0 lead with less than seven minutes gone in the opening period on goals by Troy Murray, Mark Magnan and Dave Inch.

Canucks finally solved the mystery of Ford midway through the second period as Gord Pattison beat Ford on a screened shot.

Ken Solheim gave the Saints a three-goal lead just three minutes later with a blistering slapshot that Tkachuk had no chance on.

Brian Shaw made it 5-1 early in the third period, but it then appeared that the Saints went into a defensive shell. Before the first half of the final period was over the Canucks had scored three straight goals to reduce the Saints lead to just one goal.

Brad Neufeld scored at 2:45, then Todd Scott popped in a pair at 7:16 and 9:42.

Juvenile A championships

start tomorrow

The Juvenile A Provincial Championship Tournament begins tomorrow in St. Albert, with the first game at Akinsdale Arena at 7 p.m. The two teams playing in the opening game will be Leduc and Sherwood Park. Other teams in the Provincial Tourney will be Camrose, Brooks, Red Deer and St. Albert's Ron Hodgson Pontiacs.

On Friday night, there will be two games. At 5:15, Sherwood Park and Camrose square off, then at 7:45 St. Albert and Red Deer take to the ice. Saturday morning St. Albert and Brooks play, with game time at 11:30. At 2 p.m., Leduc will play Camrose, and Red Deer will play Brooks at 4:30 p.m. All games at Akinsdale Arena.

The six teams have been divided into two three team divisions. In one is St. Albert, Red Deer and Brooks, while the other three are in the other division.

The playoffs begin Saturday night at 7:45 at both Akinsdale and Perron Arenas. The top two teams in each division will play each other. On Sunday, each division winner will play each other, while the loser, or second place teams, will face off together. These games go at 8 a.m. at both arenas.

The winner of the winners game, and the winner of the losers side will play off in the final at Noon. If the losers side wins the game, a second game will be played at 4 p.m. In other words, the B side team has to beat the A side team twice to win.

Official opening of the tourney will be at 7:45, game between St. Albert and Red Deer. Admission is $1 per person, per day of hockey action.

Hercules final registration

The Hercules Sports Association will be holding its final regular registration on Thursday, March 22, at the Wildrose School, 58 Grenfell Avenue. The time of the registration will be from 6 to 8:30 p.m. in the lunchroom.

The first registration was held last week, with a heavy turnout resulting. A Spokesman for Hercules said that about 700 kids registered for soccer and fastball.

It is very important that kids are registered on this date, as there is a limit to how many kids can be accepted. A late registration may not be needed.

If there are any juvenile aged boys who would like to play on the rep team call Dieter at 939-3148.

Marty O'Kell
On Sports

MONDAY AFTERNOON I SAT down and wrote this weeks column, but a turn of events has forced me to rip some of it up.

Actually I'm quite glad I had to rip it up. The column was on the City of St. Albert's decision not to go ahead with a steeplechase course on the track and field facility that will be built for the upcoming Alberta Summer Games.

I merely mentioned that City council would be making a stupid mistake by not spending the $12-15,000 for the steeplechase portion of the track. The steeplechase would enable St. Albert to host other track and field events other than the Summer Games and school types. Two biggies that could be held here (if there was a steeplechase), would be the High School Provincial Championships and the Canadian National Junior Track and Field Championships.

Getting back to what happened, City Council decided to APPROVE the steeplechase course for the track facility on Monday night.

Smart move Council!

FROM THE MEDIA CHALLENGE DEPARTMENT...Let the world know that the Gazette Grizzlies do hereby challenge Radio Station CKST St. Albert to a match of softball. (The Gazette is still hurting from the loss of CKST in the Canadian Over-the-line Snowball Championships). If you (CKST) have any kind of gumption with you...you will accept. End of challenge.

P.S. No ringers, please.

SOCCER PLAYING DEPARTMENT...Anyone wishing to play "Oldtimers" soccer this spring and summer now have the opportunity to do so. Call Eric at 458-0053, and he'll let you know what's going on. Plans are for a team to play "friendly" exhibition matches with other teams.

A NOTE FOR YOU JOGGERS...The Gazette-City of St. Albert Fun Run will be taking place on the last Sunday of May. The Fun Run is run over a course of streets and a ravine, totalling four kilometres, (about two and one half miles). It's a good way to enjoy some of the scenery, have a good jog, and collect a T-shirt. There will be a small fee of one dollar for the run, which goes to offset the cost of T-shirts. Plans for the second annual event are not complete, but it looks as though it will be on May 27. More on this later.

JUVENILE HOCKEY ACTION will take over St. Albert on the weekend, with the staging of the Juvenile A Provincial Championship Tournament. Six teams will be taking part to decide on a winner, St. Albert (Ron Hodgson Pontiacs), Camrose, Brooks, Sherwood Park, Leduc and Red Deer. The action gets underway Thursday with one game, that between Sherwood Park and Leduc. Game time is 7:00 at the Akinsdale Arena. The finals for the event will be at 4 p.m. Sunday, also at Akinsdale.

Speaking of hockey...my travels over the past weekend took me to the Akinsdale Arena. I caught some of the action between the Sturgeon Sod Busters and The Bay. The peewee's in this game put on a good display of good, clean, fun hockey and I enjoyed myself tremendously. The smaller kids games seem to be some of the more entertaining contests to watch.

Till next week...

K of C's to build horseshoe pits

The St. Albert Knights of Columbus have made it official, they will build the horseshoe venue for the Summer Games in August.

The project will cost about $5,300, and will be located directly north of the Senior Citizens Rec. Centre, across from the Legion Hall.

The Knights will prepare the land, sod the location, erect a four foot chain link fence, construct the pits and build some temporary bleachers.

After the Games, the Knights will turn the facility over to the City of St. Albert for public use.

Construction will begin in a few weeks, and it is expected that the venue will be completed in one or two weekends of work.

Joe Laplante, assistant chairman of Sports on the St. Albert Games Board, told the Gazette that the Games people first approached the Senior Citizens about the idea of locating the horseshoe pits either next to the Rec Centre, or next to the senior citizens lodge on Mission Avenue, presently under construction. The seniors said it would be better at the Rec Centre.

Mr. Laplante then approached the City of St. Albert to see if it fit in with their plans, which it did.

Following this, the Board approached the Knights of Columbus, who were very eager to help in the Alberta Summer Games. The Knights agreed to do it, and the rest is history.

Mr. Laplante added that the Alberta Summer Games people are very pleased with the K of C's response to the project, and it is "a good example of what the community can do to help out with the Summer Games."

Heading the K of C's committee in building the project is Frank Lukav and Please Turn to Page B 14

Booster buttons for Games admission

Jerry Manegre, publicity director for the St. Albert Games Committee, told the Gazette that "Booster Buttons" will be the sign of paid admission to the Games facility sites.

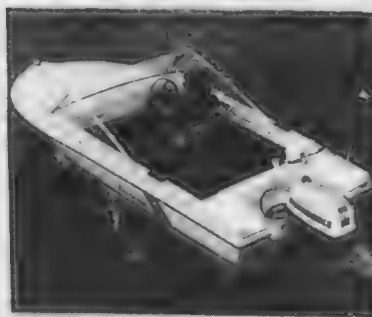

The buttons will go on sale in May at many St. Albert businesses. Cost of getting a button will be $2 for adults and $1 for children fourteen and under. With the button, a person will also get a commemorative program. The button will allow a person admission to any event in the four day stretch, a bargain by any standard. The programs won't be ready till July, but those who purchase a button before the programs are ready will receive a card that can be turned in for a program. The price of an individual program is $1 alone, so buying a button-program package is a good deal.

The button itself will have the Games Logo on it, as well as the word "booster."

Nu-West Canadians beat Ft. Saskatchewan 11 - 6

Saturday the Nu-West Canadians peewee A hockey club played host to the Fort Saskatchewan A & W Nickel Kings in their second encounter for league playoffs. The Canadians, after a shaky first period which saw them down 5-1, came through with a couple of super strong periods with a final score of 11-6.

The Canadians came out strong and dominated the first five minutes of the game but was not able to score due to a fantastic effort by the Fort Saskatchewan goalie. The Nickel Kings gradually started to take over the play by good hard checking which seemed to take the wind out of the Canadians. Eight minutes into the game the Canadians got on the scoreboard when Emanuel Viveiros fired a hard slapshot from the blueline past the Fort netminder.

From that point on everything went wrong for the Canadians and before the period was over the Nickel Kings were leading with a 5-1 score. Brent Sedgewick, the starting goaltender for the Canadians took himself out of the game after the fifth goal was scored against him. It should be stated here that he was not to carry the blame alone as the entire team let down and did not give him much help.

The second period was all Canadians. The team came out and looked like gangbusters. After two minutes of hard pressure Todd Carnelley pushed the puck in the net on a Scott Rusnak rebound off the goalpost. Twenty second later Rusnak slipped the puck in the net after great pressure by the Canadians. Todd Ewen earned the assist. Two minutes later Rusnak again beat the goalie when he chipped in an Ewen rebound with Viveiros setting up the play. Less than a minute later Ewen deflected a Rusnak shot from the blueline into the net for the equalizer with Viveiros again setting up the play.

At the halfway mark of the period Carnelley picked up a Viveiros rebound off the boards and with some good moves played himself free and scored by lifting the puck over the Fort's goalie's stickhand. With four minutes left in the period Viveiros scored what proved to be the winner when he picked up the puck after a blocked Rusnak shot and beat the goalie with a good hard low drive.

One minute later the Nickel Kings scored their last goal when the Canadians failed to clear the puck on an innocent looking play. Before the period was over Ron Couture picked up a stray Fort pass inside the blueline and scored with a good high wrist shot. The score after two periods was Canadians 8, the Nickel Kings 6.

In the third period the play became slightly more even, especially the last 10 minutes of the game when the Canadians started to slow down as the effect of having four players on the injured list (one complete forward line and one defenceman) started to show, but they still maintained control and scored three unanswered goals. First when Casey Wheatley, through some hard work in the corner, scored from a tough angle with Steven Gosse getting the assist. Shortly after, Viveiros took the puck past the defence and out-deked the goalie after being set up by Ewen and Couture.

With only two minutes left in the game, Carnelley completed his hat trick with a good backhand after being set up in the slot by Viveiros.

The final score was the Canadians 11, the Nickel Kings 6.

The Nu-West Canadians will continue their league playoff with back-to-back games against Sherwood Park. Game one will be played in Sherwood Park Tuesday, March 20 and a return match in St. Albert's Akinsdale arena Wednesday, March 21.

On Friday the Canadians will travel to Lloydminster for a busy weekend which in the end will decide who the provincial champion will be.

Territorial Leasing Sabres advance on two fronts

March has been a busy and rewarding month for the Sabres so far. During the first three weeks they advanced to the league finals by defeating Fort Saskatchewan two games out of three and to the provincial playoffs by taking Spruce Grove in a two-game total-point series.

It all started on Friday, March 2, when St. Albert played host to Fort Saskatchewan. After an exciting hard-hitting game Fort Saskatchewan emerged the victor 6 to 5. St. Albert goalscorers were Mitch Poulin with two; Dean Clark, Mike Siebrasse and Craig Rusnak with one apiece. Miles Spencer was the losing goalie.

On Sunday, March 4 St. Albert travelled to the Fort where they emerged the victors by a score of 6 to 3. Mitch Poulin had an outstanding game in scoring four of the goals. Dean Clark and Mike Siebrasse again tallied for one apiece. Bill Havens was the pipes for the winners.

Returning to St. Albert a week later the Fort was not as fortunate as they were treated to a 12 to 7 trouncing by the Sabres. Top point-getters were Kevin Coyes with three goals and four assists. Mitch Poulin with three and three. Darren Ernest and Dean Clark with two goals apiece and singles for Mike Siebrasse and Craig Rusnak. Bill Havens was again the winning goalie.

By winning this series the Sabres now advance to the finals in the bantam league meeting the strong Sherwood Park team.

To qualify for the provincial bantam playoffs, which are to be held in Leduc this coming weekend, St. Albert had to defeat Spruce Grove.

Saturday, March 3 saw these two teams meet in Spruce Grove. A surprisingly strong Grove team caught the Sabres off guard and by the end of the first period our boys were trailing by a score of 3 to 0. Another Spruce Grove goal in the second period seemed to put a little spark in our fellows and they retaliated with a goal of their own. With a lot more hustle in the third St. Albert came back with four goals to the Groves one finalizing the score at a 5 - 5 tie. Goalscorers included Mitch Poulin, Craig Rusnak, Danny Laplante, and Mike Siebrasse. Bill Havens was in net.

The return match was played in the Akinsdale Arena on Sunday, March 18 with a high flying Sabre team defeating their visitors by a six to two score. Mitch Poulin tallied for a hat trick. Kevin Coyes with two and Dean Clarke with one. Miles Spencer was the winning goalie.

The weekend following the provincial playoffs, Territorial Leasing Sabres will travel to Saskatoon to participate in their bantam tournament. Then the following week, April 4 to 7 they will host a tournament here in the Akinsdale Arena.

Next it will be time for ball gloves and golf clubs.

Oldtimer soccer team forming

There is some interest in St. Albert in forming an Oldtimer Soccer team for friendly competition this spring and summer.

If you are interested in playing, call Eric Winklemier at 458-0053.

Bantam soccer tryouts

Bantam AA soccer tryouts will be held in the next few weeks, with the first session beginning on Monday, April 2, at 6:30 p.m. at the Sir George Simpson Field.

For more information, call Emanuel Viveiros at 459-8690.

ANY NICE GIRLS UP THERE?

St. Albert Junior Saints forward Dean Dachyshyn appears to be looking into the crowd at last night's game between the Saints and the Calgary Canucks. The Canucks were winless in round-robin playoff action, but came out flying as they dumped the Saints 7-1. The Saints next and final game in the round-robin portion of the playoffs is tonight in Fort Saskatchewan against the Traders.

Saints

Referee Ron Burwash handed out seven minor penalties with the Saints taking all but two.

Saints were cheered on by over 30 fans who came down by bus, and it no doubt contributed to the victory.

The team left immediately after the game with the bus arriving back in St. Albert at 3 a.m.

Saturday night the always tough Fort Saskatchewan Traders were the visitors at Akinsdale arena and there was no doubt midway through the game as to who the winner was going to be.

Solheim opened the scoring for the Saints with a powerplay goal at 12:18 and at 14:02 Steve McKenzie scored on a shot from the point that Trader goaltender Clint Malarchuk did not have a chance on.

Ford came up with a number of spectacular saves in the first 20 minutes of play to frustrate the high scoring Traders.

McKenzie put the Saints out in front 3-0 early in the second and then Dave Inch added insult to injury as he scored a short-handed goal at 15:46, with team-mate Jeff Marshall sitting out a holding penalty.

John Ewasiuk scored the first of his two goals for the Traders at 18:56 while Brian Shaw of the Saints was in the penalty box for slashing.

Inch scored his second powerplay goal of the night at 9:39 of the third just nine seconds after Rick Ripple had gone off for interference.

Shaw was in the penalty box again as Ewasiuk capitalized on the powerplay at 12:30, but at 16:40 Solheim added his second of the night to give the Saints a well deserved 6-2 win.

Referee Jim Beaudry called eight minors and a major to the Saints while the Traders picked up six minors and a major.

Saints outshot the Fort 29 to 24 and both goaltenders came up with some very big saves, especially Ford when the Saints were short two men on two occasions.

No word has been received as to when the A.J.H.L. best of seven final series will start.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Members of Council of the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90:

We have examined the balance sheets of the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90 at December 31, 1978, and the following financial statements for the year then ended:

Statement of Revenue - General Operating Fund
Statement of Equity in Fixed Assets - General Capital Fund
Statement of Revenue and Expenditure - General Operating Fund
Statement of Revenue and Expenditure - Water Operating Fund

In our opinion, subject to the determination of the amounts to be ultimately collected as a result of these negotiations, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Municipality as at December 31, 1978, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles, as they apply to Alberta Municipalities, on a basis consistent with that of the year 1977.

As explained in Note 3, a number of matters are under negotiation with respect to the transfer of assessment from the County of Thunderbolt No. 7 to the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90. Although the Municipality has not yet received certain amounts expected to be received as a result of these negotiations, information is not available at this date as to the portion of the account receivable and other amounts which may ultimately be collected.

In our opinion, subject to the determination of the amounts to be ultimately collected as a result of these negotiations, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Municipality as at December 31, 1978, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles, as they apply to Alberta Municipalities, on a basis consistent with that of the year 1977.

To the Members of Council of the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Municipal District of Sturgeon
 No. 90 at December 31, 1978, and the following financial statements for the year then ended:

- Statement of Surplus - General Operating Fund
- Statement of Equity in Fixed Assets - General Capital Fund
- Statement of Equity in Fixed Assets - Water Capital Fund
- Statement of Revenue and Expenditure - General Operating Fund
- Statement of Revenue and Expenditure - Water Operating Fund

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and procedures included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As explained in Note 3, a number of matters are under negotiation with 7 respect to the transfer of assessment from the County of Shethill No. 7 to the Municipal District of Sturgeon No. 90. Although the Municipality has made provision for certain amounts expected to be received as a result of these negotiations, information is not available at this date as to the portion of the account receivable and other amounts which may ultimately be collected.

In our opinion, subject to the determination of the amounts to be ultimately received as a result of these negotiations, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Municipality as at December 31, 1978 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, as they apply to Alberta Municipalities, on a basis consistent with that of the year.

Go hostelling this summer

By Diane Lake
Experience the most spectacular scenery by canoeing our great rivers. Enjoy the special French atmosphere by staying in an historic building in old Quebec City. Discover Canada in your own special way ... Hostelling is educational and recreational. It encourages young Canadians to a greater knowledge, love and care of the countryside. It offers clean, wholesome, friendly accommodation ... at a reasonable price.

Think of any country and you will find us there. It's a great opportunity to learn about geography, history and maybe new languages. Hostels are open to everyone. They develop a new understanding of our fellow men both at home and abroad. You can mingle with young Canadians with diverse interests and backgrounds. If you enjoy meeting new people and seeing new faces, then you are a hosteller at heart.

There are 58 hostels ranging from Newfoundland to British Columbia. The smallest can accommodate six people and the largest 240. Meals are provided in many and cooking facilities in some. The cost of overnight accommodation ranges from $1 to $4.

What about living in the heart of rodeo country? Does it appeal to you? Then Calgary is the place for you. In Regina the hostellers home is in an old bank building, renovated for today's comfort, with free movies and folk groups for your entertainment.

Saskatoon North Star Bantams

The Saskatoon North Star Bantam A Club will be one of the teams competing in the first annual St. Albert Bantam Hockey Tournament, April 4-7.

Coached by Murray Aasen, the North Stars is one team in a total of eight tier I teams in Saskatoon. These teams play three rounds of league play, one round of provincial playoffs and one round in city playoffs. The North Stars were in fourth place after three rounds of league play.

The Saskatoon club has participated in three out-of-town tournaments so far this year, winning the Consolation in the Melfort Tournament. They intend to partake in, at least, four more tournaments before the end of the season.

In March of this year, the North Star Hockey Association will be hosting their 12th Annual PeeWee and Bantam Tournament. Teams from all over Canada participate in this event.

Gold and silver for local boxers

The St. Albert Boys Boxing Club was in Medicine Hat on March 10 and 11, with five boxers competing in the Provincial Boxing Championships.

The result of the trip down south was excellent, with three golds and two silvers won by the five St. Albert boxers.

Martin Teuber, Dave Stephen and Grant Arneson are now Provincial Champs, having all won the golds.

The Richmond brothers, Peter and Mike, lost close split decisions to two boys who went on to win the gold medals.

Martin Teuber won unanimous decisions over veteran boxers Ron Callen and Richard Strijack. Then to top it off, Martin won a trophy for best Junior Boxer in the tournament, quite a feat considering that over 130 boxers were entered in the provincials. Martin is still undefeated in his fourteen bouts to date.

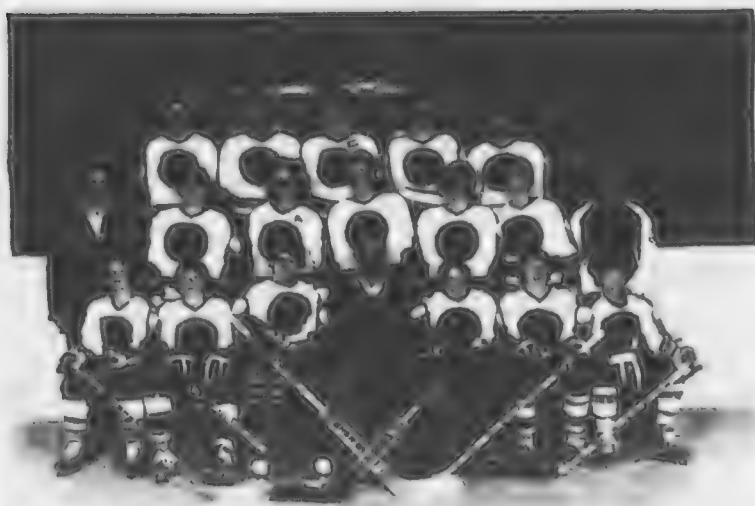

Dave Stephen and Grant Arneson are repeat winners, as they were also the 1978 champs.

Peter Richmond moved one class up to the intermediate open division and lost a split decision to Lorne Hetchler of Calgary. Hetchler, at 19, is three years older than Peter and is in his last year as an intermediate. Hetchler has had over 100 fights and after the bout said he had never been hit so hard, adding that it was his toughest fight he had ever had. Peter now has won fifteen of his nineteen bouts to date.

Mike Richmond lost a split decision to Bernard Evans of Calgary in a bout he should have won, as Mike has beaten much better boxers.

Manager Del Larsen would like to thank team supervisor Tony Rapati, trainers Wilf and Pete Richmond and coach Taffy Williams for their extensive efforts and dedication on this difficult trip.

St. Albert Territorial Leasing Sabres

The St. Albert Territorial Leasing Sabres is the Bantam A Club in St. Albert participating in the Central Alberta Bantam Hockey League, a nine team league. The Sabres will be the host club at the St. Albert Bantam A tournament, and sport an impressive 16-6-2 won-loss-tie record in regular season play.

The Sabres are coached by John Sebastian, who has done a lot of work within the local minor hockey program. John says his team "is a really good team, they're solid and good checkers," and he thinks they have a good crack at winning the Provincial Playoff Championships. One line in particular to watch for, says John, is the three-some of Mitch Poulin centering Dean Clark and Danny Laplante. Mitch was the leading scorer in league play, netting 50 goals in 22 games.

This weekend, the Sabres are playing in the Provincial finals at Leduc.

Pontiacs sideline Enoch; sleep in the Park

The Ron Hodgson Pontiacs came through with two clutch performances last week winning their Hwy. 14 league semi-final series against the Enoch Icemen two games to one. A week ago tonight, the locals travelled to the Icemen's home arena down a game, and skated away with a 4-2 win in another thriller.

The action switched to the Akinsdale arena on Saturday night, and a convincing 5-1 triumph put St. Albert into the league finals against the Sherwood Park Jets (formerly the Raiders).

The best of five finals opened Monday in the Park, but the Pontiacs looked a little sluggish in dropping a 6-3 decision.

The Ron Hodgson crew seem to be at their best when "the chips are down," but there won't be many second chances this weekend in Provincial Playdowns opening tomorrow night at the Akinsdale arena. Coaches Harmon and Sage have a stiff practice scheduled for tonight in preparation for their tourney opener against the tough Red Deer Chiefs.

PONTIACS EVEN SERIES IN SQUEAKER

Things didn't look too promising entering foreign grounds down one game in the best of three series, but three third period goals turned elimination into a victory for the locals.

Enoch captain K. Lewis put the Icemen one up at 5:37 of the first frame but Murray Riddell drew St. Albert even 10 minutes later with Keith Heyburn assisting.

After a scoreless middle stanza, Enoch's G. Sieffert blinked the red light early in the third firing in a loose puck from a goal-mouth scramble. Jeff Harmon was set up nicely on the right side by a Heyburn pass at 4:49 to knot the count; Cliff Greening also drawing an assist. After several close calls at both ends, Colin Parayko fired in a Ken Young rebound midway through the period to give St. Albert a 3-2 lead. Brent Galbraith guarding the Pontiacs cage was called upon to come up with a few acrobatic saves in the final 10 minutes to preserve the win, and was rewarded with an assist on Bob Crawford's empty net goal at 19:21.

ENOCH HANDLED EASILY AT HOME

A good team effort was instrumental in the 5-1 home ice win which sidelined the Icemen from further action in Hwy 14 league playoffs.

Pontiac netminder Scott Gannon came through with a big game, and the St. Albert blue-line brigade looked their best as a unit in recent weeks.

John Provencal gave the Pontiacs an early first period lead teaming up with linemates Young and Parayko. Harmon stretched the lead to two at 7:35 of the second on a three-way passing play with Riddell and Heyburn; and a rink length dash by Crawford three minutes later made the score 3-0. Enoch's S. Alfred got that one back before the final buzzer to give him three in the series.

A shorthanded goal by Bob Fellows early in the third seemed to take most of the spark out of the Icemen attack. The big defenceman blocked a shot at mid ice, and skated in unmolested making no mistake with a high hard drive. Parayko closed the scoring in the last minute with Kent Middleton assisting.

DROP FINAL OPENER IN THE PARK

The Jets were worthy of the win, and anyone who saw the clash between the two top teams in the Hwy 14 league would sum it all up by saying the Pontiacs only played one decent period of hockey.

The Park managed only one marker in the first 20 minutes of play, but three more in the sandwich session gave them a commanding 4-0 lead.

Unassisted tallies by Crawford and Riddell in the third made things a bit interesting in the last few minutes, but a Park marker at 17:38 stretched their lead to three again. Crawford's second of the night seconds later made the score 5-3, but it was "too little too late" for the Pontiacs. The locals were buzzing around the Jet cage in the last minute with netminder Galbraith pulled in favor of a sixth attacker, but Sherwood Park captain B. Tredewell ended the threat at 19:49 with the easiest goal in the book.

PONTIAC PASSES: In the Sherwood Park game, there were passes three feet in front, three feet behind, and at least a dozen blind passes on to Jet sticks. The boys in black and white were a bit "blind" on occasion too, but it is believed former midget coach Ross Pennington would say that was "par for the course" ... Pontiac defenceman Calvin MacAulay suffered a shoulder injury in the final Enoch game, which will sideline him for the balance of the season. It is a bad blow for the locals, but Brad Hancock will be in from Calgary for the Provincial tourney and Dwayne Wade is scheduled to return from a shoulder injury ... Good luck Pontiacs - you will need a little of that too in order to finish on top.

Carma's split semi's with Sherwood Park

Down by one game and facing possible elimination in their best of three league semi-final playoffs with Sherwood Park, Carma's St. Albert bantams roared back in the second game to force a deciding match here in St. Albert Thursday evening.

The opening round was played at the Park last Tuesday and was not only the best played and cleanest game for these teams this year, but the most exciting as well, ending finally after five minutes of overtime at 4-3 for the Park.

Sherwood Park had the edge in play in the first period, although Carma's had three powerplay opportunities in the first eight minutes. The first scoring didn't come until later, however, when Erin Oor converted a John Lenz pass to put Carma's into the lead. Thirty seconds later, Mike Tessier and Mike Wells produced a beautiful combination but just missed putting them further ahead. A minute later, the Park's high scoring defenseman, Hebert, rushed down the left side and passed out to an eagerly waiting mate who popped the tying goal. The balance of the period was mainly played in St. Albert's end and, late in the frame, another winger cruising in front of Carma's goal put them ahead.

The Park really put on the pressure in the second period, outshooting Carma's 14-9. Nevertheless, goalie Chris Lane came up with some nice saves and Wells came through with a pretty solo effort around the defense on the right side to even up the score.

Play in the third period was quite even, with both sides demonstrating some of the best hockey of the season. Lady Luck and a big goal post conspired, however, to frustrate Carma's efforts early in the frame. Perseverance paid off after five minutes with the go-ahead goal by John Findlay, with assists by Rod Sopiwnyk and Tony Baller of St. Albert.

Things looked good for the next few minutes until a powerplay chance was made good by the host club, and it was tied again. Fast end-to-end play in the dying minutes produced hysteria in the stands but no goals, and the game went to overtime.

The first 10 minute overtime period again featured good hockey. However, it was again a powerplay opportunity for the Park which clinched the winner as Hebert drilled a screened shot from the point.

The second game, played Thursday in St. Albert, was a bit rougher but still featured good hockey. Sherwood Park opened scoring with the only goal of the first period, with just three minutes left, and had the edge in play.

Carma's finally evened it up with a goal midway in the second period by Rob Walsh, from Sopiwnyk. The pace picked up for the rest of the frame, with good play by both clubs and some pretty saves by Carma's Mike Willems in the net. Each club managed an additional marker in the period; St. Albert's by Tony Rouault from Lenz.

In the hard hitting play of the final period, Willems continued to come through in goal, while Carma's clinched the game with a pair of goals. The first by Lenz, from Oor and Rouault; while the second was by Oor, from Tessier and Wells.

Carma's fans are looking forward to the conclusion of this series, to be held at St. Albert's Akinsdale Arena Thursday night at 7:15.

PONTIACS IN PROVINCIALS

The Ron Hodgson Pontiacs Juvenile A team from St. Albert will be competing in the Juvenile Provincial Playdowns, to be held in St. Albert starting tomorrow at the Akinsdale Arena. Other teams in the tourney are Brooks, Camrose, Red Deer, Sherwood Park and Leduc. Finals for the playdowns will be noon Sunday at the Akinsdale Arena.

RMC Saints prepare for Rocky Mountain tourney

On the weekend the St. Albert RMC Saints prepared for their upcoming peewee tournament in Rocky Mountain House by travelling to Edson for two exhibition games. The Saints lack of local ice time showed up as they lost the first game. The Saints did come back in the second game and shellacked the hometown team after finding their "legs" again. The boys were billeted out in Edson and a good weekend was enjoyed by the whole team.

EDSON EDGES SAINTS

On Saturday evening the Edson W and G Diggers team took advantage of the St. Albert Saints slow start and jumped off to a 3-0 first period lead. Danny Martin, John Samson and Lenny Hudinski triggered first period goals for the Diggers.

WILF KEISER

Strong two-way game

In the second period the Saints seemed to regain the skating form they had all season and came back with two quick goals two minutes apart to come within one goal of tying the score. The first St. Albert goal was fired by Darryl Ethier on a break-away. The second was netted by Trent Rees.

Edson came back with two goals before the end of the second period to lead 5-2. Edson's two goals came from Hudinski and Martin, both their second of the game.

GREG AMYOTTE

Notches hat trick

SAINTS EXPLODE IN REMATCH

On Sunday morning the Saints jumped on their hosts to take a 4-1 lead after one period. Eric Olson triggered two goals with singles going to Don Bremault and Wilf Keiser. Keiser's goal was one of the prettiest of the game as he wound up behind his own net and skated the length of the ice before depositing it behind the Edson goalie.

ERIC OLSON

Triggers 3 goals

Eric Olson's first goal was set up by Tim Korz and Trent Rees. Edson's only goal was scored by Lyle Osalchuk.

The second period saw St. Albert increase their lead to 7-2. This period saw Olson complete his hat trick by firing his third goal of the game. Greg Amyotte connected for two goals to round out the Saints scoring in the second. Gord Trembath picked up two assists on Amyotte's goals, with Mike Holzer and Wilf Keiser also adding helpers. Hudinski notched Edson's only goal of the period.

In the third frame, St. Albert outscored Edson 4-0 to come away with an 11-2 victory. Greg Amyotte fired his third goal of the game to complete his hat trick. He was set up by Keiser and Trembath on the effort. Rees notched two goals, set up both times by Olson. This gave Rees a three-goal weekend. Mike Holzer finished off the scoring. Goal-tending was shared by Todd Shaw and Todd Cunningham in both games.

SCOTT GANNON

Holds Enoch to One

The Saints now prepare for an eight team peewee tournament this coming weekend in Rocky Mountain House. Hopefully they will enjoy success and cap off a very enjoyable season.

Willowbrook Saints - Peewee B champs

Congratulations to the 1978-79 St. Albert Kinsmen Minor Hockey Peewee "B" champions Willowbrook Saints. Behind excellent goaltending and defensive play the Saints defeated Sturgeon Martinizing Sharks 3 to 0 on Saturday and 2 to 0 on Sunday. Playing in front of an enthusiastic and vocal crowd the Sharks and Saints displayed well coached skills and individual effort, however the goaltending of Ken Sharf foiled the Sharks repeatedly. Coaching the Saints was Terry Baller, while Bruce McGlashan directed the Sharks.

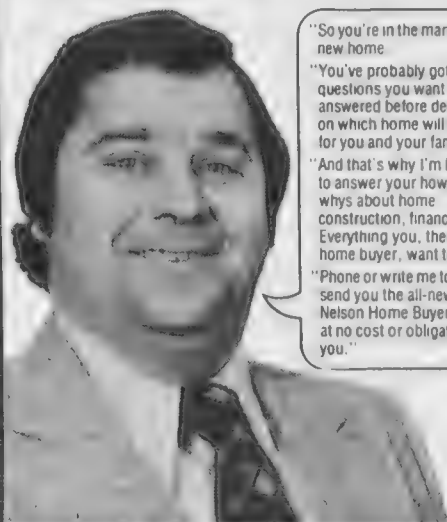

Individual and team trophies were presented to the boys and coaches as well as a crest from Abacus Cities-The crest from Abacus Cities-The Bay. On the basis of regular league play Michael Brisson of St. Albert Glass and Mirror Smashers was presented with the Peewee "B" Top Scorer trophy and

Congratulations are extended to all the coaches, assistants, and players for making 1978/79 an exciting season in the Peewee "B" division:

Canucks blast Saints

Calgary Canucks, behind the two-goal performances of Mell Hewitt and Ron Head easily defeated the Saints 7-1 last night in an Alberta Junior "A" Hockey League round-robin playoff game. Gord Pattison, Lyle Stokoteln and Todd Scott added singles for the winners while Mark Magnan scored the lone Saint goal. Saints will be in the Fort tonight for their final game of the series while Thursday the Fort will travel to Calgary in the series final. Saints need a win tonight or else have to rely on the Canucks losing to the Fort if they are to make the best of seven playoffs which will feature the two teams with the most points in the round-robin.

Legal and Redwater in see-saw battle

The second game of the Sturgeon Valley Senior Hockey League playoff finals took place in Redwater on Friday, with the Legal Canadiens coming out on top of Redwater 6-5.

The first period was dominated by Redwater, but a good goaltending display by Legal goalie Paul Provencal prevented Redwater from scoring. Provencal even stopped a Redwater penalty shot midway through the period. Legal received goals from Richard St. Martin and Real Huot to take a 2-0 first period lead.

The second period saw Legal pull ahead 3-0 on a goal by Rick Provencal, however Steve Hopkins of Redwater hit the scoreboard about a minute later. Redwater came back with two more goals late in the period to tie the game at 3-3.

Scoring for Redwater were Tom Sokoloski and John Wilson.

Early in the third period Daryl Roloff put Redwater ahead 4-3, but three minutes later St. Martin clicked for his second of the game, tying up the score again. Rick Provencal put Legal one up at the 11:04 mark, then Huot scored what proved to be the winner at the six minute mark. Redwater's Joe Mireault scored with two minutes left in the game, but couldn't get another to tie the game up.

The best of seven series was tied at this point at one game each, with home ice advantage not being a factor so far.

REDWATER TAKES THIRD GAME

Legal was the scene of game three on Sunday, with Redwater winning by a 7-6 score.

Redwater now leads the series two games to one. The fourth game took place last night in Redwater, but no results were available at press time.

Game five is scheduled for Friday at 8:30 p.m. in Legal.

The first period ended up in a 1-1 tie, with Huot scoring for Legal and Mireault for Redwater.

Redwater pulled ahead in the second when they got two goals from Hopkins and singles from Wilson, Mir-eault and Sokoloski. Legal remained in the game throughout the period, with Legal scoring three. Goals came from Huot, Peter and Rick Provencal. Redwater led after two 6-4.

Sokoloski sent Redwater ahead by a 7-4 count when he scored a shorthanded goal midway through the period. Two minutes later, Rick Provencal scored on a breakaway, then Peter Provencal made it 7-6 with a minute left to play. Legal pulled their goalie for a sixth attacker, but couldn't even up the score.

Both teams are playing exciting, tough hockey, with very few penalties throughout the three first games.

Morinville tourney

Last Sunday saw Carma's St. Albert bantams in a one-day tournament put on in Morinville, including the host club, Redwater, Westlock and St. Albert. Carma's opening match was against a game club from Redwater, which surprised the favorite St. Albert boys by popping the first goal. Their strong point was the breakaway play and they almost connected twice more before Carma's stopped watching and began playing. The final score was 8-3 for St. Albert, and the fans saw some interesting play and a lack of any chippiness.

The draw then placed Carma's immediately into their second game, against Morinville, who had beaten Westlock in an earlier match. This game was the exact opposite of the Redwater match, with a disgusting display of intimidation hockey by Morinville. Despite the goon tactics, and the strain of playing back to back games, St. Albert dominated the play and eliminated the hosts with a 7-2 score.

Carma's final game of the day matched them again with Redwater, who had eliminated Westlock. With St. Albert carrying three players injured in their second match, and Redwater now in the "back to back" games situation, neither team was fully fit for the finale. Nevertheless, the game was completed, with St. Albert overwhelming their exhausted opponents by 16-2. To their credit, both clubs took it easy on each other, and the officials, by treating the game as a friendly match, handed out very few penalties.

Tourney organizers presented game star trophies for each game. For St. Albert, these went to Erin Oor, Tony Rouault, John Lenz, Robert Walsh and John Findlay.

to Provincials

Morinville Pee wee Vipers have advanced to the C Division Provincial tournament in Blairmore, Alberta by winning against Swan Hills in the first two game total point series by a score of 23-4. In their second two-game total point series against Mayerthorpe they won by a score of 14-6.

The Blairmore tournament will take place on the weekend of March 23, 24 and 25. Their first game will be against McLennan at 12:15 on Friday.

At this point the Morinville Vipers would like to thank those who contributed toward purchasing their sweaters and socks. To McGinnis Realty, Flynn's Imperial Esso and Quinn's Plumbing a big "thank you" for your support.

The boys and coaching staff would also like to thank the parents for their support through a very active and successful hockey season.

Enoch wins Calahoo

hockey tournament

The third annual Calahoo bantam hockey tournament was won this year by the Enoch team with a 6-2 final score over the St. Albert Broncos.

The winners led 3-0 after the first period of play on goals by D. MacDonald, J. Thompson and W. Pappin.

C. Strachan and W. Calahoo put Enoch ahead 5-0 before L. Soetaert put the Broncos on the scoreboard midway through the second period.

L. Avery scored the final

Enoch goal in the third period while G. Borle replied for St. Albert.

Enoch reached the "A" final with a 5-0 win over Elmwood in their opening game and then shaded St. Albert Windsor Plywood 3-1 in the semi-final.

Broncos reached the finals with a 8-3 win over Westlock and then scored a 5-2 win over the Calahoo team.

In the "B" event final it was Stony Plain 7-4 over Legal.

THE CITY OF St. Albert

Notice Of Public Hearing

1. The Council of the City of St. Albert proposes to pass Bylaw No. 7/79 being a bylaw to rezone a portion of River Lots 41 to 44 inclusive, St. Albert Settlement, as shown on the attached plan.

2. The purpose of the proposed bylaw is to remove the lands from Development Control and zone them to single family residential (R1b and R1c), multiple family residential (R3), commercial (C1), park (P) and institutional (SP); and to amend Schedule C of Bylaw No. 23/71 to permit the inclusion within the combined R1b and R1c areas of the following:

(a) A maximum of 24 lots having a minimum frontage width of 50 - 54.9 feet inclusive; and

(b) A maximum of 45 lots having a minimum frontage width of 55 - 57.9 feet inclusive;

but in no circumstances shall the amendment of frontage widths allow such lots to be less than fifty (50) feet in width.

Panama Canal

Panama Canal locks 1,000 feet long, 110 feet wide and 70 feet deep cannot take giant tankers that draw 90 feet of water and are 200 feet wide and 1,300 feet long. National Geographic points out. But though the big ships must make a 9,600 mile detour around Africa, they carry so much oil that it is cheaper than using smaller vessels able to sail through the canal.
